

CS110 and Early Research Scholars Contract

CS110 and the CS Early Research Scholars Program is a selective program that requires a strong commitment from its participants. By signing this contract, you agree that you will participate fully in the program, according to the rules and responsibilities listed below.

I, (print name) _____, am a participant in CS110 and/or the CS Early Research Scholars program in 2022-23. As a member of this program I agree:

- To work (at least) the expected number of hours weekly,
- To attend class and group meetings regularly and punctually,
- To behave professionally toward my group members and the faculty and students who comprise the research group I am placed with,
- To complete the assigned work for the CS110 in a timely fashion, and to "pull my weight" with all assigned group projects,
- To keep an open line of communication between myself, the members of my group, and Prof. Mirza. In particular, you must let Prof. Mirza (or the central grad mentor for ERSP know) know if any issues arise, as soon as they arise,
- To balance my time so as to maintain success in my other courses.

The following only applies to ERSP participants.

- As a member of ERSP, I agree to actively and fully participate for the full 3-quarter duration of the program. Each quarter I agree to register for the course associated with the ERSP program as instructed and to complete all work associated with that course.
- I understand that continuing in ERSP in Winter and Spring is subject to satisfactory performance in CS110.
