Title: Memory and Imagination: A Mixed Media Exploration

Abstract:

This series of mixed media artworks serves as a preservation of my most cherished memories, as well as an expression of how time has transformed my recollections of them. I used watercolor and colored pencil to create a space, then printed a linocut of a real building that I extracted from the memory on top. By combining intuitive mark making processes with one that requires careful planning and execution, I capture both the tangible and intangible aspects of memory. This series is an attempt to shift my artistic process into something that is personal and honest; to create something that allows the viewer to access my inner world.
