

Write a reaction about implicit bias.

Implicit Bias can be easy to identify or it can be hidden. Many don't see it because it doesn't affect them. But like a lot of things, once you see it, it can't be unseen!

Your reaction

How did you feel when you learned about Implicit Bias? Perhaps you were already aware of this concept, so change the question around: what kind of thinking are you doing around addressing Implicit Bias?

There is no one way to approach this assignment -- just be honest in your self-examination of implicit bias: what you know, how your understanding has evolved, what still perplexes you, or what you think you need to work on! Life is a journey; reflective thinking is essential.
