

On the afternoon of 11th July, 2020, Timber issued twin threats in voice chat: she threatened to kill Dusty, who has not been engaged at ITRP since October 2019, and she threatened to kill Lake on the basis of his voice irritating her.

This can be corroborated through statements Peach made to Dusty on 11th July 2020 (pictured above), relaying Timber's message as bidden by Timber. Dusty did not take to the threats kindly, objecting in characteristically strong terms despite Peach's protestation that it was "just a meme."

Peach later walked back the meme claims as "no longer being memes" and issued another threat of physical violence at Timber's behest.

In the aftermath a deep dive was taken into Timber's activities on the ITRP discord. She is known to be caustic and variable, but in the intervening week it became clearer the extent to which she had become a detriment to the community.

The first stop was Valk, a stable member of the community. Timber had engaged in a candid discussion evidently of sexual nature with Valk, discussing the issues of sexuality or somesuch. This was not confirmed to us and we respected Valk's decision not to go into it. Regardless of the precise content of that discussion, it was not immediately poorly received by Timber. Only after some amount of time had passed did Timber flip on Valk and begin a systematic campaign of public and private harassment against him.

This came to a head on the days 18th to 20th June, 2020. Timber passive-aggressively attacked Valk repeatedly, deleting some of the more outrageous comments after posting them-- they were fortunately recovered.

Since then countless events of bullying and harassment have occurred. Timber has dropped racial slurs, has called other players whores for not paying attention to her, has insulted all of Islam by implication that Muslims are terrorists that throw members of the LGBT community off building tops (to one of ITRP's relatively small number of Muslim players, no less), made efforts at emotional manipulation, and has made lewd comments in public channels where minors could see them.

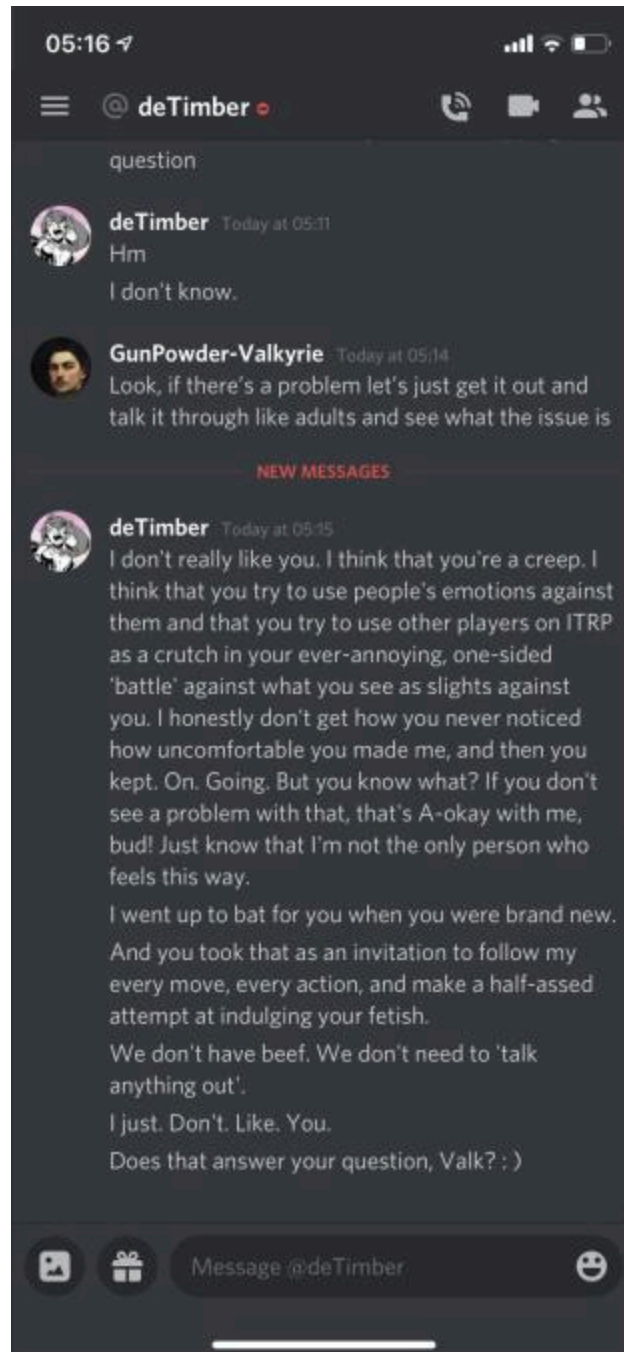

This is a pattern of activity that requires immediate action. It is imperative that the mod team take it. Below will be included screenshots and provided context for them, with the intention to impress upon the reader that action must be taken against this user.

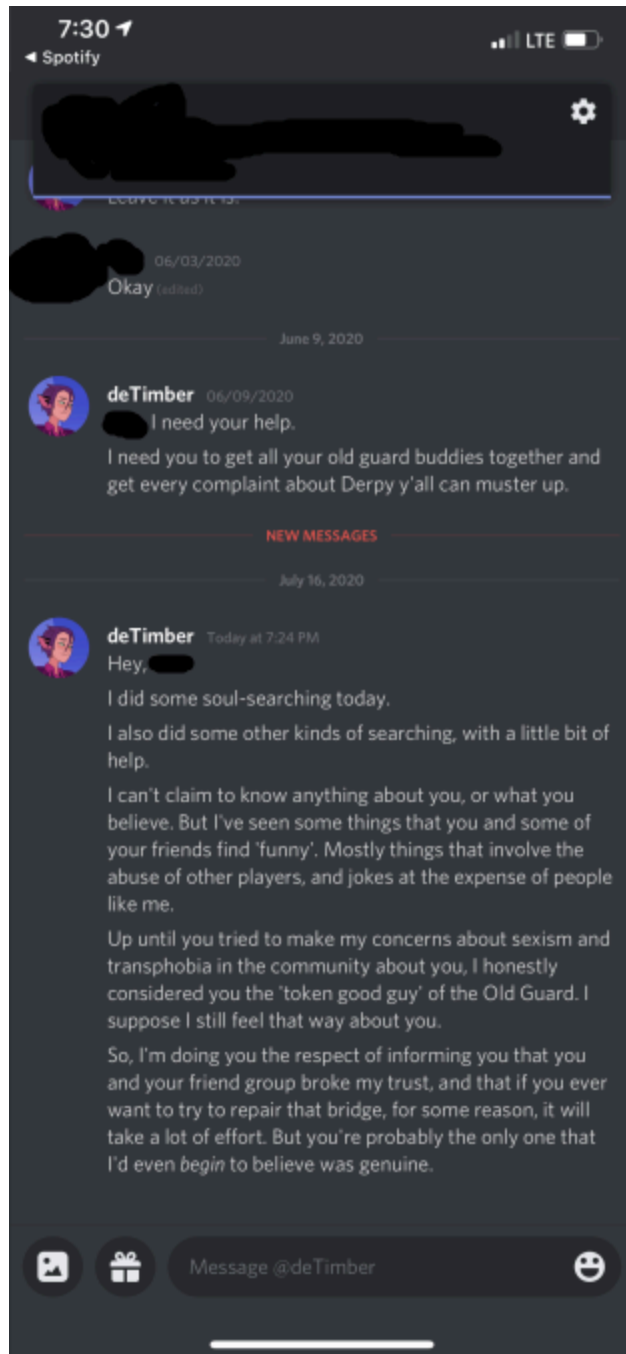

A collection of insults over three days targeting Valk.

Deleted comments from 20th June attacking Valk.

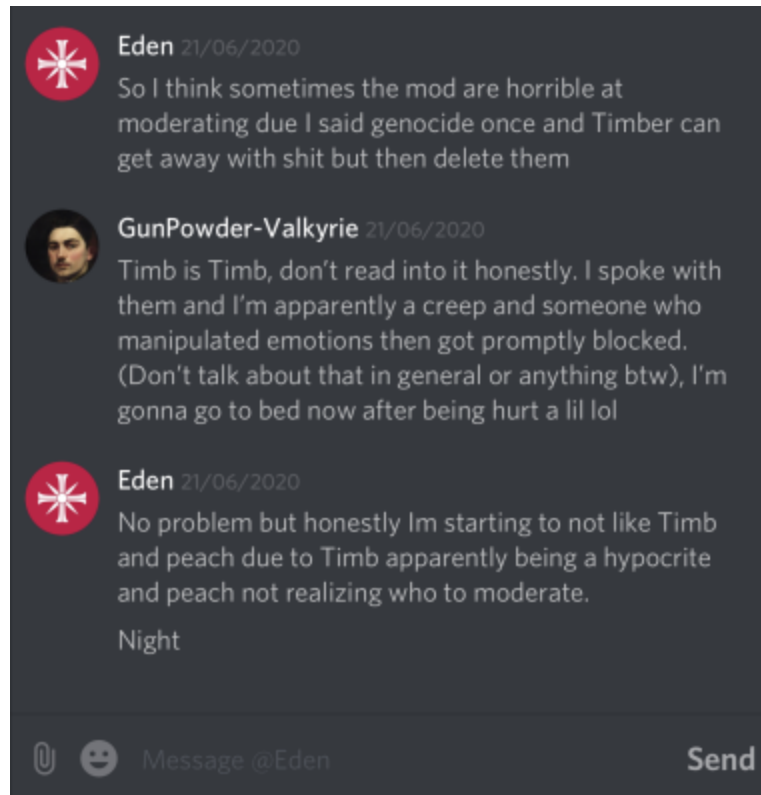

The beginning of a tirade leveled at Valk on 20th June, 2020. Timber frequently launches these tirades at players in their DMs.

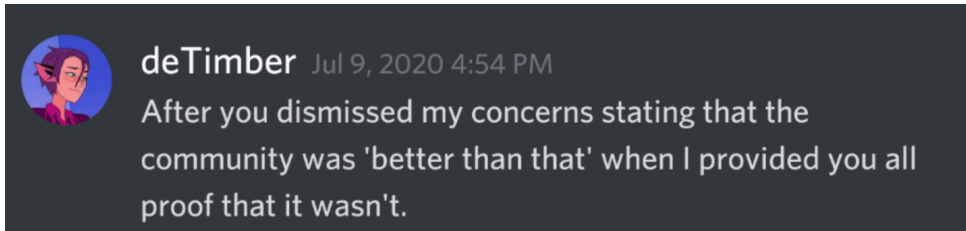

A rant Timber aimed at a different player, who did not want to be identified, displaying an attempt at emotional manipulation. Also pictured: evidence of her soliciting leaks from moderators.

In the aftermath of the anti-Valk public outburst at least one new player effectively departed the server, stating:

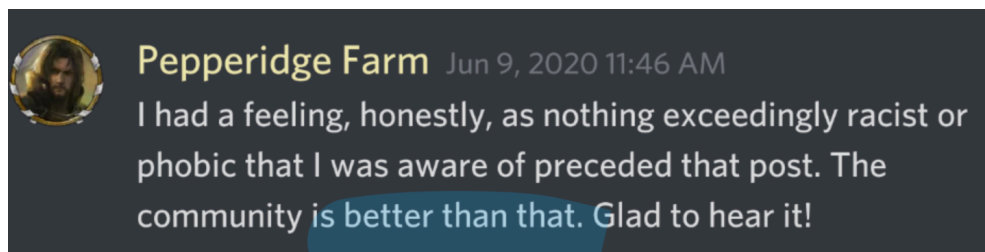

This exposes another facet of the Timber issue: her relationship with Peach and Peach's repeated leaking of materials to Timber from mod chats and private servers in an effort to slander individuals Timber does not like. Also of concern is Peach's overmoderation of players Timber does not like relative to moderation of Timber. This activity is not contained solely to Peach, other mods are actively leaking to Timber on additional private servers.

Here is the source of the quote, from #shadowfriends, 9th June.

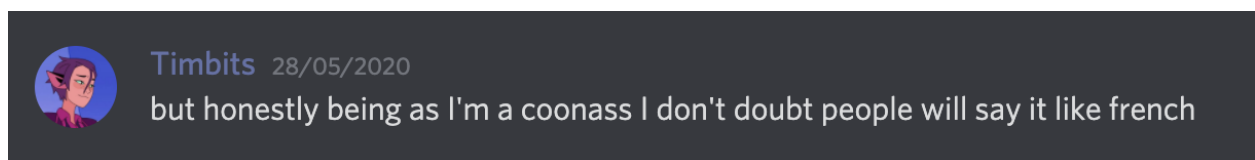

Here you can see Peach reinforcing Timber's harassment of Valk in the 20th June public blowup directed at the latter. Hence Eden's message about Peach's uneven moderation of those around Timber.

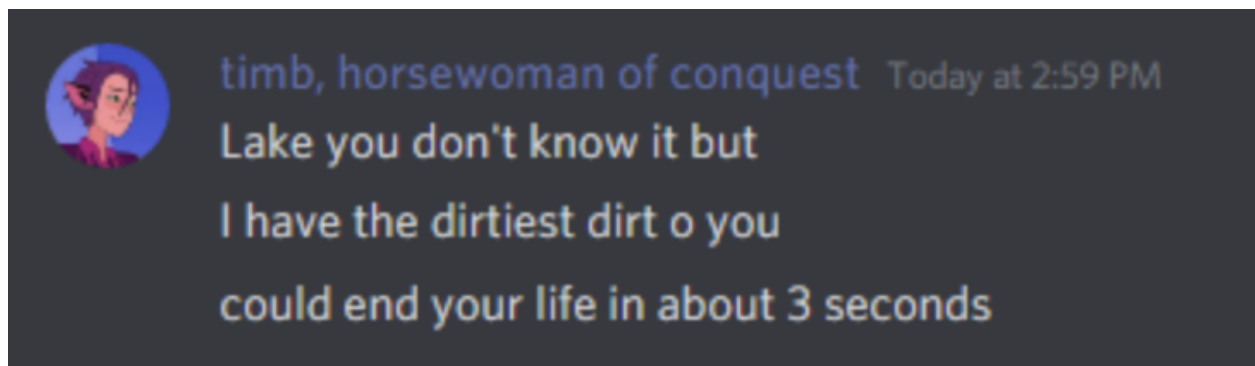

Beyond that are the aforementioned lewd comments made in public:

Posted and swiftly deleted, Timber's favorite method of avoiding censure while breaking the rules. Watch #logs!

And the aforementioned racist comments.

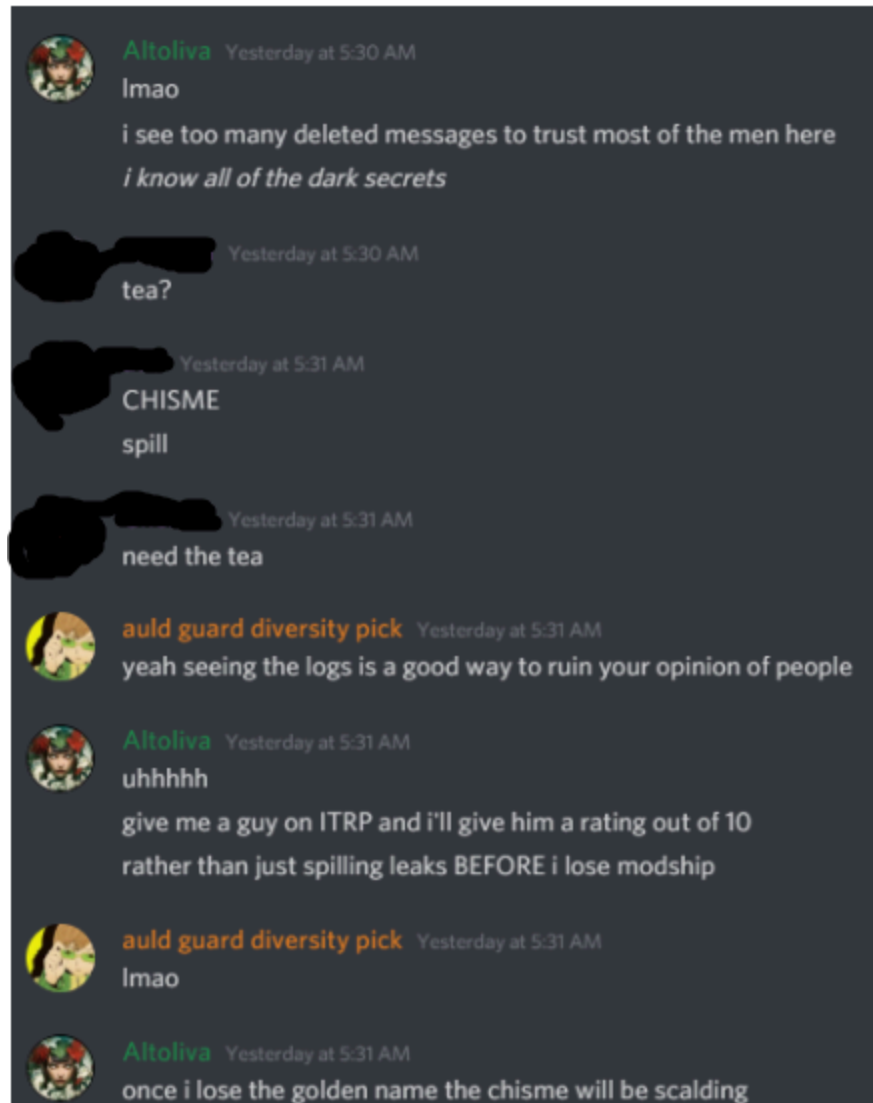

And unfounded threats of reputational harm to fellow players. The physical threats were made on voice chat, as previously mentioned.

Another pastime of hers is appearing in people's DMs to unload diatribes at them. On 16th July, 2020 she dropped into the inboxes of Lake, Ron, Mudd, Ben, and potentially others to lambaste them for perceived offenses and "breaking her trust." This was far from the first event, however. In the past she has done the same to Lake, Ron, and others to tear them up for the same category of perceived offense. Prior to the 16th July outburst she appeared in Lake's inbox on 9th July to express indignance that he did not defend her but would defend OGRedfort-- an accusation evidently founded on the mistaken belief that Lake was still a mod and had access to modmails. When alerted to this, she responded with a dismissive “Whatever” and continued ranting for fully half an hour more.

This pattern of behavior is extremely toxic. Players have been and will be driven out of the community if it is continuously enabled by friendly members of the mod team (specifically Alto and Peach, who have both demonstrably leaked information to her-- images to follow on that).

Pictured is a moderator announcing their intention to leak modchats. To follow is evidence that Timber belongs to this particular server.

It can be assumed that after this exchange Alto leaked some detail of Dogmunist's disciplinary record to Timber.

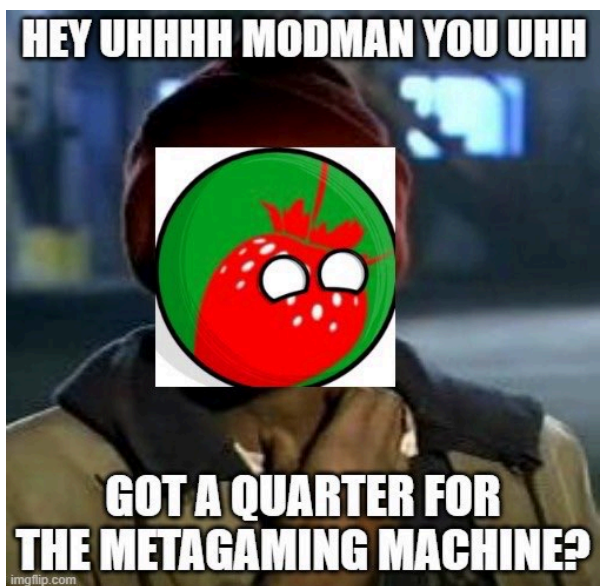

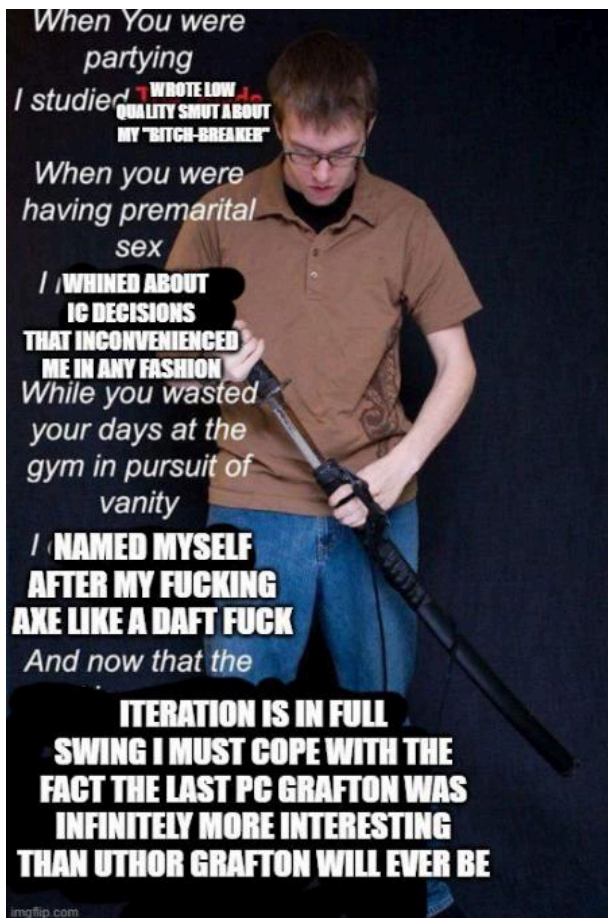

Present here is a member (not Alto, but clearly informed by Alto) displaying advanced knowledge of a departure by Lake from the Kingsguard and Derpy from the mod team. Also pictured: additional threats from Timber leveled at Lake and Derpy.

If it is left to suffer this repeated abuse, the community has and will continue to erode for it. It is the wish of many members of the community to see some kind of censure on Timber for these repeated and ceaseless acts that are quite beyond measure. Any venture into #logs or #voicechat will yield more evidence. Search for Timber by name and add any vulgarity to the terms, and it will yield more evidence.

The question becomes how much racism, bigotry, or threatening behavior we are willing to tolerate? How can we justify to members remaining in the community that at any moment when Timber, Peach, or Alto finds something mildly incriminating they said that they might get yelled at for 45 minutes by Timber in their DMs? Who comes to ITRP to be submitted to scrutiny of their past and present statements by another member, aided and abetted by mods and Kingsguard? The mod team ought to act on this now, before the damage gets any worse.

In closing, a presentation of memes Timber has created about various members of the erstwhile mod team and the community:

Thanks for your time.
