

Avatar: Steve, 23, skinny, loves his animals.

He has a hamster named Otto which really loves.

Fears: He's afraid that the stinkiness of the hamsters will spread to his whole house and poison him. (This is true btw, hamster pee stinks so bad)

Roadblock: His hamster and his cage are constantly dirty, and it's so dirty and stinky that he is afraid to clean it himself. (he's a little bitch)

Solution: Clean the hamsters, and make it easier to clean his hamster from now on. (because he's a little bitch)

Product: Hamster cleaning service, which will professionally clean the hamsters and their cage with pro tools.

They will install a "hamster-stink-remover" so he can clean easily from now on.

IG Ad #1:

The FATAL consequences of a stinky hamster 🦴💩👃 [read more...]

Since you decided to read more, I'm guessing your hamster stinks like the average Frenchman.

But why must it be like this in the first place? 🤔

Why do your hamsters decide to produce the most gut-wrenching smell imaginable? 🤢

It's not biology, and it's definitely not because you feed them garbage. ❌

Click the link in our bio to find out what they are plotting against you 👁️👁️

IG Ad #2:

How does a germophobic hamster owner manage to keep his hamsters clean, despite all of that stinkiness? [\[read more...\]](#)

