

WELCOME TO THE WINGS! POST BLACK-HOLE EDITION

We're so pleased that you've decided to join us as a Mexico City Wild Wings fan. We're a small fanbase, but with a lot of heart, and we can't wait to share with you what we're about.

Who are we?

Our team motto best encapsulates who we are! "Pase Lo Que Pase" is both aspirational and a warning - meaning "whatever happens, happens" for when we need to roll with the waves this game sends our way, but also meaning "no matter what happens" for when we force the tides to turn.

And our record shows that anything can, and WILL happen. We're chock full of statistical anomalies - yet we continually fly under the fandom's radar. Part of our unassuming presence comes from our relatively small number of fans, but don't be fooled - we've had a huge impact on the game as a whole, from surprise championship runs to... more esoteric pursuits.

You may have heard of our legal team, but we also enjoy other paperwork-heavy endeavors, such as voting coordination, deep discussion of game knowledge (forbidden or otherwise), and even writing the occasional white paper on accessibility.

Strategically speaking, we've historically been very interested in the numbers behind baseball, and have folks in our strategy channel who on the baseball discord who will be VERY happy to get into that. We were once very protective of our roster, having seen it unchanged through the first 6 seasons of the Beta. In the latest iterations of the game, though, we've rolled into a very fine starting roster, and intend to use our small voting power strategically to enjoy that while it lasts.

And if your decision to choose our team is based solely on being hungry, that's extremely valid - and know that we will never judge you for your wing preferences! After all, we're the flavored Wild Wings.

Bienvenidos a la Ciudad de México!

What might I catch people saying in the Discord?

- Our team creed, and motto: "Anything Can Happen!" "Anything Will Happen!" "Pase lo que pase" often shortened to PLQP
- "Cell Barajas". We like to say the name of this player for no apparent reason.
- "190." For the Wings, it's the 'nice' number.
- "Let Raf" Because in various situations we feel that Rafael Davids should be allowed.
- References to a drink called Spicy Milk. It is sometimes known as Pitching Juice. It should not be consumed.

What we are up to right now:

- We were as surprised as everyone else that the Fall lucked us into probably the best starting roster of any team. Of course, the sim wouldn't even let that last a whole season before deciding to punish us for our hubris - so now we're just trying to figure out if we can still squeeze out a win while wings still (relatively) good.
