

It is essential to understand that the absence of government invites inevitable decay, yet even the presence of government can lead to our undoing if not guided wisely. Thus, I ask: what does it mean to truly lead? How can we construct a government that mirrors our highest ideals?

I offer these reflections, born from a uniquely profound and newly discovered vision.

True leadership is not about wielding power or control, but about illuminating the path, nurturing growth, and inspiring the hearts of others. A leader's worth is not measured by their knowledge of military strategies or political maneuvers, but by their depth of empathy and their understanding of human development, environmental harmony, and medical well-being.

A leader must possess the ability to feel genuine empathy and to understand how best to uplift and guide their community. The political label—whether Republican or Democrat—matters little in the grand scheme. What counts is our shared journey and the destination we aspire to reach.

I invite you to join me in envisioning a future that embraces hope and progress. While perfection may forever elude us, we can find grace in striving to do our utmost.

Imagine a world where we cultivate vibrant super-ecosystems, form bonds through trade, innovation, and compassion. Envision a society where every person has access to affordable housing and essential services, with a tiered system that meets the diverse needs of families and individuals alike.

Picture a future where conflict gives way to collaboration and creativity. Will you stand with me in crafting a future that embodies the promise of a brighter tomorrow for everyone?

Unveiling the Leader Within: My Journey and Legacy

My name is Skylar Drakos-Johnson, and I am a candidate for the upcoming presidential election. At 20 years old, I am dedicated to shaping our collective future with a vision that transcends traditional party lines.

I wish to clarify from the beginning that my allegiance is not to the Republican or Democratic parties. My primary concern lies in the future of our world and its well-being.

Throughout my extensive studies at Yale, encompassing psychology, developmental science, medical studies, design, and environmental science, I have undergone a profound journey of self-reflection and growth. Once perceived as a deeply troubled individual, my academic and personal development has led to what many might describe as enlightenment.

I want to emphasize that my evolution does not make me superior or different; we are all on this journey of growth together. I encourage you to reflect on the future we aim to build, not just for the upcoming election, but for the next several decades.

We face a critical moment where our ecosystem is deteriorating, and decisive action is necessary to prevent its collapse. My vision is to create a future that benefits everyone, rising above partisan divides to foster unity and progress. I advocate for a world where trade, science, and technology can thrive, and where every child receives proper education and financial support from an early age.

My studies have also delved deeply into the art of tactics and strategy, drawing inspiration from historical figures such as Meng Tian, a renowned military tactician from ancient China. Meng Tian's innovative strategies and battlefield maneuvers have profoundly influenced my approach to problem-solving and leadership. This extensive study has not only refined my skills but also provided me with a unique perspective on tactical thinking.

The moniker "Dark Visionary" reflects my strategic approach, signifying my ability to anticipate and navigate complex scenarios with insight and foresight, much like Meng Tian's strategic mastery. This name embodies the essence of my work—a fusion of historical wisdom and forward-thinking vision driving my political and environmental initiatives.

In this envisioned future, every individual should have access to substantial housing and fair wages to lead a basic, secure life. Healthcare must be comprehensive, covering essential and life-saving procedures, including abortions.

I urge you to look beyond personal biases and consider why we cannot embrace a shared understanding of humanity and freedom of choice. I envision a future where Congress members are required to undertake courses in empathy and respect and are tested annually on these qualities.

This vision extends beyond merely creating a future for all; it aims to establish a utopia where development, technology, and nature flourish together.

Currently, I am collaborating with a prospective Congresswoman who has demonstrated the empathy and compassion necessary to align with these ideals. Both Kamala Harris and Donald Trump are, in my view, unfit for leadership. While Kamala may be considered "safe," Trump represents a disgrace to the role of leader.

Though my views may be provocative, we must confront the decline in effective leadership and work toward meaningful change. Will you support this transformative effort, or will you stand aside?

Below, I have included drafts of proposed bills intended for collaborative development to ensure legislation that serves and benefits everyone.

Remember, while the path ahead may seem daunting, it only becomes truly impossible when we surrender to despair. Stand with me as we forge a path toward our shared future, transforming challenges into opportunities. Together, let us carve out a destiny of promise and progress.
