stories:

royaltea, prince, donut

Royaltea adores Prince. And as one who likes style the same way he does, they decided the perfect present to show their adoration would be a new pretty dress.

They had ideas of course. But too too many. They've often thought about what dresses would look nice on Prince. And there was too much to count. If they could get all the dresses in the world for Prince they would!

But they couldn't and they needed to consult Donut, see what it's opinion was. He's known Prince for just a bit longer than Royaltea, maybe there's something it can suggest!

Royaltea found Donut laying in a field, staring at the clouds as it often does. They couldn't help but also notice how beautiful nature was today.

It took a little while to get Donut's attention because of how mesmerized he was with the sky but,

"Hm?" Donut yawned, turning to see Royaltea laying next to it.

A greeting kiss was in order, Royaltea thought, giving a quick mwah.

"How are you feeling?" they wondered, though they knew the answer.

Donut smiled, "Sleeeepy. Take a nap with me?"

Tempting offer... Royaltea would love to but they had work to do.

They shook their head, "No, no, no, I want to find a pretty dress for Prince"

"I'm not good at helping." Donut booped their nose, "Buuut, you know he'd like whatever you give. You dream about him, just like I do. What dress do they wear in your dreams?"

"You're silly" Royaltea remarked. But that was a smart idea. It was just embarrassing to think about. There was one dress on their mind but, they couldn't help but worry Prince wouldn't like it. He doesn't often wear pink colors...

Royaltea laid down, "I nap" they announced, hoping to get a clearer idea of what to do in their dreams...

...Pink, floofy, puffy, spinny, pastel, a beautiful dress appeared in Royaltea's dreams again, fitting Prince's blue fur. And would also match Royaltea's collar, a cute little mention. Their worries had seeped into their mind, playing scenario upon scenario of Prince's possible reactions to such a dress. Negative, positive, then positive again... Lots of things to consider. Though there was one thing they couldn't get out of their head: Prince's smile at a new dress and how beautiful he would look in pastel pink. This, Royaltea decided, was worth it. Even if the dress was shelved and never worn again, Prince always smiled at a new dress and seeing that even for a moment was worth it!

So Royaltea got to shopping. Every website they could type to, every store they could walk to, all to find this wonderful pink dress they hoped Prince would adore.

Some were too pastel. Some too glittery. Some too poofy and some not poofy enough! Royaltea wanted the best for Prince so they kept searching even when their paws were tired.

And then finally. They found it.

The perfect amount of pink and shimmer, poof and spin. Oh what a lovely dress! It would look so amazing on Prince! Royaltea did some quiet happy woofs as they bought it. Their soulmate was sure to enjoy this! All doubts from before were gone as they imagined the fancy dress on Prince. They had to see him immediately. That smile could light up anyone's day, especially Royaltea's!

But first, just one more nap was necessary...

When the dress was ready, Royaltea was ecstatic, smiling the biggest smile they could. They ran over as fast as their little paws could take to where Prince was sure to be: the dressing room of his house. They were so excited to give this gift, to show their adoration. And they hoped on every star that they weren't wrong and it would be a wonderful gift he was sure to appreciate.

Once the door opened, Prince knocked them over with a hug, "Royaltea!!"

The hug was returned, though Royaltea was slightly hurt from falling on the ground-

"Prince, guess what?" Royaltea started, excitement bubbling up in their heart.

Prince frowned, "I'm not good at guessing games"

Well, Royaltea knew that and wasn't actually going to make them guess! Instead, they quickly revealed the pink dress in their hands.

Prince gasped at the sight, a smile growing. As the smile grew, so did Royaltea's heart.

"What?! It's so!! Poofy! So pretty!" they rambled, "Royaltea, I love you, it's so pretty!!!" They took the dress and immediately started to try to dress himself.

What a wonderful reaction! Royaltea was so happy!!! They shined bright, proud of their decision to get this dress, losing their own words in the happiness.

And oh did the dress look gorgeous tried on. Prince looked like, well, a prince.

“Gorgeous!” Royaltea exclaimed, unable to contain their happiness, Woof!”
Prince spun around in it,”So spinny!”
“And it matches my collar too” Royaltea pointed out.
Prince gasped and took their paw, ”We match!”
“We do!” Royaltea squealed.
Prince gave them a kiss, and Royaltea returned it.
“I, I adore you, Prince” they spoke softly.
Prince gave another kiss, “I adore you too”

sweetheart and sapphire

It’s a quiet day for sweetheart and sapphire. They just haven’t felt their ‘usual’ selves today. No motivation to talk, to make a nice breakfast to eat together. When they woke up, they barely wanted to get out of bed.

So sapphire rescheduled their plan to go out into the public and give notes to make people smile. And Sweetheart decided not to decorate the house today like they’ve been doing. Instead, they made a mutual decision to curl up together on the bed and watch musical theatre videos sapphire put on. The volume was soft enough for them both to mindlessly focus on the songs and tune out their thoughts. Lost in the sensation of their soulmate laying next to them and the rhythm of the music.

They could do more tomorrow. Much more. But for now, it was just a day of being in each other’s presence. And that was okay with them.
