

Contributions to Public Information

I, Subbu Vincent, commit to only making statements on this page if I am confident they are true. I understand that if I say things here which turn out to be incorrect, people could be harmed or even die. I am putting information here in the hope people find it useful, and I encourage others to do the same on their own pages. For more about how a page like this can be useful, see <https://credweb.org/about-the-network>.

The schema at Schema for Simple Credibility Statements may provide insight into the intended meaning of statements in this document, but it does not override any natural, plain language meaning the statements might have.

I consider <https://twitter.com/BulwarkOnline> to be credible.

I consider <https://twitter.com/reason> to be credible.

I consider <https://twitter.com/MLK50Memphis> to be credible

I consider <https://twitter.com/TheRoot> to be credible

I consider <https://twitter.com/SarahLongwell25> to be credible

I consider <https://twitter.com/andreperryedu> to be credible

I consider <https://twitter.com/EJDionne> to be credible

I consider <https://twitter.com/scalawagmag> to be credible

I consider <https://twitter.com/erinleinhorn> to be credible

I consider <https://twitter.com/BridgeMichigan> to be credible

I consider <https://twitter.com/zeynep> to be credible

(I did this document as an experiment to also see if can state these things about people both within similar political-values and across the values/politics divide)