In times of crisis, when the whole world is fighting the pandemic. There are some who are privileged enough to sit inside their homes and still manage to eat food but there is a large section of the society who are now struggling to even get a single meal on their and their family's plate.

We at " NGO name" are writing this open letter to you all to bring your attention to this unprecedented crisis that is affecting millions and is putting them in such a condition that they are sleeping hungry and more than any disease is dying of malnutrition.

We request you to contribute to this initiative and extend your helping hands to those who are in dire need of it.

Regards
