

1. Regretful, repentant, then moving into earnest, sincere

Matt, stop being so nice to me. I don't deserve it. Do you know what kind of person I am now, I mean - do you know who I am right now? I don't have any real friends. I did something bad with a married guy. I don't talk to my mom and dad. I'm not a nice person. And the thing is - I'm not 13 anymore.

Matt, I am not the awful person that I know that I was. I don't even know that person. And I'd like to believe... I'd like to believe that if you knew that - if in your heart you really, really knew that - you wouldn't be getting ready to marry someone right now, unless that someone were me

2. Bitchy, superior

You know what? Just admit that even with all your years of singing lessons and dancing lessons and child adoration from your gay Broadway dads that I am better than you. Unlike you, I can be popular in high school and still make it after graduation. Just admit that no matter what you do, or how far you go, you will never be able to scratch that itch. You will never be able to look down on me and redeem yourself. Because the truth is, I was better than you then, and I am always going to be better than you. You are short, you are awful, and that is never going to change.

3. Introspective, self-doubting

Me, who am I? A far-from-perfect guy. A bum who wants to do what's right, but often does what's wrong. A kid whose voice is way off-key, but loves to sing a song. A guy who dreams like a lion, but wakes up like a lamb... Me, who am I but the guy I am?

4. Judgemental, sarcastic

David Lindhagen. David Lindhagen, I know. How do I know that? I'm a total stranger, how would I know something so intimate about your life? Do you want to know why I know that, Cal? 'Cause it's all that I've heard, Cal, for the past two nights. That's all anybody's heard. You're going around and you're, like, badgering people with this sad sack loser sob story and I don't understand why. No, sit down. Look, I know that sounds harsh, but it's true. And you need to hear the truth, so permission to speak candidly, sir? You're sitting there with a Supercuts haircut, you're getting drunk on watered-down vodka cranberries like a 14-year-old girl, and you're wearing a 44 when you should be wearing a 42 regular. Honestly, I don't know if I should help you or I should euthanize you. Cal, you got a kind face. You got a good head of hair. You seem like a nice guy. I want to help you. I'm going to help you rediscover your manhood. Do you have any idea, like, where you lost it?

5. Confident, thinks they're right

So, OK, like the Haitians need to come to America but some people are all, "What about the strain on our resources?" And it's like, when I had this garden party for my father's birthday and it was all catered, you know, I said "R.S.V.P." because it's a sit down dinner. OK? People came that like, didn't R.S.V.P.! And I'm buggin'. I have to haul ass to the kitchen, re-distribute the food and like squish in extra place-settings and people are on mismatched chairs and all. But by the end of the day it was like "the more, the merrier". And so if the government could just get to the kitchen and re-arrange some things we could certainly party with Haitians. And in conclusion, may I remind you that it does not say "R.S.V.P." on the Statue of Liberty.

6. Whining, building panic

I'm fucking Matthieu. That's the only hope for me.- It's me and Matthieu, man. And 'cause he's gay and fearless, he's probably gonna fuck me without protection. Then I'm gonna get pregnant. We're going to have to join a church. He'll be the gay pastor. My whole life's fucked! And yeah, sure, his sermons are good, but everybody knows he's gay. By the way, our son, Hezekiah, hates us 'cause he knows we're both closeted, but we try to make it work for him, but he's not happy. And yeah, guess what? The deacon's fucking the evangelist, man! He's fucking the evangelist! I don't wanna live like that. Will you come and visit us on Sundays? Please, will you come and visit us on Sundays?

7. Camp, self-assured

I see where this is going. Um, I do drink red wine. But I also drink white wine. And I've been known to sample the occasional rosé. And a couple summers back, I tried a Merlot that used to be a Chardonnay, which got a bit complicated.... I like the wine and not the label. Does that make sense?

I know this is very new to you, so just so you know, I absolutely did roll over and cry myself to sleep with regret. I just wept for hours in the dark. I say we go with this one. It's the biggest.

8. Frustrated, tired

Okay, line up. Line up! Move it! On your feet right now, two lines! Alice and Mary, eyes front! Katie! You too, Chris! And spit out that gum! Where will you put it? You can choke on it, for all I care. Just get it out of your mouth. Wipe that smirk off your face, Norma. Okay. Now, I want you all to know that you did a really shitty thing yesterday, a really shitty thing. Did any of you ever stop to think that Carrie White has feelings? Do any of you ever stop to think? No, I guess you're too busy thinking about your dates and the prom. I guess you can take your pick, Chris. Who's the lucky guy?

9. Dramatic, betrayed

You know what, Greg? You're not a great friend. If you were a great friend, you would've told Mr. Winsky the truth! You only care about yourself. You hated my cartoon, you made fun of my clothes, you disrespected Joshie, you broke my hand and you didn't even seem sorry! Don't call me. Don't come by my house. We're done.

10. Comedic, class clown energy

I have a test today. It's on European socialism. I mean, really, what's the point? I'm not European, I don't plan on being European, so who gives a crap if they're socialist? They could be fascist anarchists – that still wouldn't change the fact that I don't own a car. Not that I condone fascism, or any ism for that matter. Isms in my opinion are not good. A person should not believe in an ism – he should believe in himself. I quote John Lennon: "I don't believe in Beatles – I just believe in me." A good point there. Of course, he was the Walrus. I could be the Walrus – I'd still have to bum rides off of people.