

==FULL DEVOTION==

One day it happened a certain man
Went to the house of his friend,
He hoped there for some fellowship,
And so his way did he wend

To a humble cottage, his abode,
And found there an open door,
Settled in a comfortable chair
And hoped friendship to restore.

But he found his friend distracted,
Found him worried overmuch,
So his friend had no time for him
And thus their hearts never touched.

Let it not be so when Jesus
Comes to our hearts for a while;
We'll give Him our full attention
And give Him reason to smile.

Let worries go by the wayside
When the great King comes to call,
May He have our full devotion,
Our hearts, our minds, and our all.
