

Translated from chatgpt

The company is a pretty new company. It started in 2021 and has accelerated since. They sell Tennis inspired everyday clothes.

BE CRITICAL!

Dear Team Palmes,

I hope you're doing fantastic.

Your way of seamlessly bringing your unique tennis culture into everyday life is truly impressive, and I see great potential in this.

I've noticed your remarkable progress over the past few years, but to take your already impressive success to the next level, it's time for some changes.

In general, I've observed that your website lacks in text and descriptions, which can negatively impact your credibility and ultimately result in the loss of potential customers.

I specialize in creating visual thoughts and emotions through text, with the purpose of persuading readers to take action, such as purchasing a product or engaging with a story.

As you can see, I've already managed to hold your attention up to this point without you perhaps even noticing it. This is precisely what I excel at! 😊

My offer specifically includes areas like landing pages, social media posts, and product descriptions, as these are key components you need to address.

Best of all, I'm offering my help as a startup entirely free of charge, so there's no risk for you.

You can comfortably lean back in your chair and watch the results roll in.

All you need to do is take the first step!

Let's have a no-obligation conversation whenever it suits you best.

I look forward to hearing from you! 😊

Best regards, Mikkel