The Black Knight is actually a small Fairy?! Hero x Fairy Villain.
Enemies to Friends to Lovers? M4F/A
Part 1

Situation

The Black Knight was once a guardian of a forest that was rumored to be full of magical creatures/plants. Only a select few were allowed to enter this forest, but then one day the majestic forest was burned to the ground. No one knew why or who did it, but soon after this, the Black Knight became an Unstoppable foe! He believed that a knight had committed this terrible crime, so he traveled far and wide challenging knight after knight and won every time. He was an undefeated killing machine, until one day when he once again challenged a knight (who was part of an adventuring party) to the death, but before the knight could accept his challenge, a Young mage (who was part of the Knight's party) accepted it in the knight's stead. The Black Knight was upset but his challenge was accepted and must be seen through, but during the battle, the mage used a magic spell that caused the Black Knight's armor to fall to the ground in a pile and it was revealed that the Black Knight was actually a small male fairy. This fairy had enchanted the armor to allow him to use it and protect his home, but he feels as though he had failed since his home forest burned. Upon the discovery, the adventuring party had started laughing, except for The Mage, for they felt sorry for the fairy. Seeing their party laugh at the fairy's predicament they scolded them for laughing but when that didn't work out the way intended The Mage put them to sleep and quit the party and promised The Fairy to help find the real culprit of the forest's destruction.

Characters

Black Knight - Cedar Daycrystal, was once a high guardian, protector of the sacred forest. Until one day, the forest was burnt down. Cedar believed it was caused by a group of knights, who had entered the forest accompanying a mage, then soon after this group left, the forest caught fire and was destroyed. Cedar searched everywhere for his people, for his family, but he was unable to find them in the fire and had to flee before he perished as well. Once the fire died down and he found the remains of what was once his home, he vowed to get his revenge on the knights who caused this!

Mage Listener - Firefly is a powerful mage with the incredibly rare gift of sensing magical items without needing to use a detect magic spell. They were part of an adventurers party with the famous Golden knight, Sir Dylan of Thistleton. But after the encounter with the Black Knight (Cedar), they decided to leave the party and accompany Cedar on his quest of finding who and why his forest burnt to the ground.

Sir Dylan of Thistleton - known as The Golden Knight, Dylan has never lost a fight, graduated from knight school at the top of his class, comes from a rich family and therefore thinks very highly of himself. His goal in life is fame and fortune. He wants nothing more than to earn money to spend in taverns and brothels. He's praised as a brave and tough adventurer but in reality he's a bit of a coward when it comes to dangerous magical creatures and thrives off of other's. (Think that one "famous" professor from Harry Potter and the chamber of secrets.)

Script

Cedar: (voice muffled and deep behind his helmet) I challenge you, Sir knight, to a duel! A battle to the death.

Sir Dylan: (laughs and sounds super cocky) oh really? You're going to challenge me? The Golden Knight of Thistleton? what do you have a death wish or something (Sees that the black knight isn't going to back down) ok then I ac--

{I accept the challenge!}

Sir Dylan: What?! You're accepting the challenge?!

{Yes}

Dylan: are you crazy?!

Dylan: there's no way that's allowed. A mage can't just accept a knights challenge right?!

Cedar: (growls) my challenge has been accepted. The battle shall commence and must be seen through! [He's clearly not happy with this arrangement]

Dylan: do I trust you? Well yeah, you're our parties only mage, of course I trust you. Kinda need to trust you, since you're the only one that can use healing magic Dylan: then trust that you've got this. Ok fine! But if you die then you're kinda out of luck, since again, you're the only one who can use healing magic. So try not to die, ok beautiful?

Cedar: enough! stop talking and let us battle!

Sfx: sword swings and magic sounds

Cedar: I'll give it to you little mage, you're better than I expected but you're still no match for me!

Cedar: big talk for someone in magi- gasp how did you know that my armor is magical?

Cedar: you can sense it? How is that possible?

{Let us see just how strong you are without the magic helping you.
Dispell magic!}

Cedar: (realization hits him) Wait, wait! don't-!

Sfx: magic sounds as the mage casts dispell magic. Clunking noises as the black knights armor falls into a pile

Dylan: the heck? Did you disintegrate him?

{No.. I just}

Dylan: Oh wow! you absolutely killed the black knight! We need to celebrate this victory!

Sfx: cheers

Dylan: though for obvious reasons when we tell people, we should say that I was the one who defeated him because he only challenged knights and no one would believe that it was you. You understand right?

Cedar: (normal voice) Oh my gosh! Do you ever stop talking?!

Dylan: who said that! [draws sword]

Cedar: (climbs out of the armor pile) it was me! You giant bafoon! And they didn't kill me, I'm very much still alive!

{(Kneels down in front of him) You're a fairy?!}

Cedar: of course I'm a fairy! But I was hoping to keep that a flower-blooming secret! And now thanks you, little mage, it's gonna take me forever to re-enchant my armor! (Growls in frustration) do you have any idea how hard it is to perfectly enchant every piece of armor to mimic a human walking?! No you don't!

Dylan: (holding back laughter) so, your telling me that the big scary black knight is just a little fairy?

[Dylan bursts out laughing and the rest of the party laughs with him]

{Stop laughing!}

Dylan: stop laughing? Why? This is hilarious! Wait until we tell everyone that the scariest knight in the kingdom is just a tiny little weak fairy!

Cedar: weak?! I am not weak! I've slain more creatures than you've flirted with girls!

Dylan: at least I'm able to get the girl at the end of the day (cocky smile) unlike you.

Cedar: what's that supposed to mean?

Dylan: oh nothing, just that you've got a tiny-

{Enough!}

Sfx: magic sounds as the mage puts everyone (except Cedar) to sleep
Bodies thump lifelessly to the ground

Cedar: aww come on! Why'd you have to go and put them all to sleep? The fight was just getting good

Cedar: they were giving you a headache? Yeah that's fair, He sure does seem to like the sound of his own voice. Which reminds me, why did you accept my challenge to the death on his behalf? I could have easily killed him and saved a bunch of people from his stupidity

Cedar: nothing you could say would ever be more stupid than that nonsense he was spewing earlier when he was celebrating my demise. So tell me what was your reasoning?

{...}

Cedar: yeah, I understand that you don't have to tell me, but just please help me understand why you were willing to potentially die for him? Because if I was in your position I definitely would not have done what you did.

{...}

Cedar: oh it's embarrassing? Really? Now I definitely want to hear this!

Cedar: oh come on, please? we fairies live for gossip! But if it'll make you feel better, I promise to never repeat what you tell me to another soul, fairy, human or otherwise.

Cedar: you have my word

Cedar: you..what?! You liked him? As in liked him liked him?

Cedar: Firefly, I might not have known him for as long as you have, but even I could tell that he was an obnoxious troll of a human. What did you even see in him?

Cedar: ah I see, so you thought that he was attractive and when you joined his party, he seemed very nice and genuinely interested in you.. yeah~ in all honesty Firefly, I still don't see the appeal, but to each their own I guess.

{..?}

Cedar: Hm? Why do I keep calling you what?

{...}

Cedar: oh! Well I'm calling you "Firefly" because your magic sparkles like the fireflies from my home forest... [clears throat] also i think "firefly" is a better nickname than "little mage"

Cedar: I'm aware that you have a name; everything and everyone obviously has a name. Sometimes multiple names. But in my world, names have power, and I'm not worthy to yield such power over you. [mumbles under breath] not anymore. [normal voice] So if its alright with you, I'd rather not know your name.

{Then may I ask what your name is?}

Cedar: Why do you want to know my name?

Cedar: You wanna be my friend? [shocked and confused] I just tried to kill you and your Golden Knight friend. Not only that, but I've killed many knights before we met. I'm not a good person. Why would someone as sweet as you want to be my friend? [sounds defeated]

Cedar: Because I look like I could use one? You're very sweet Firefly, but I don't want any friends, nor do I have time for them. I'm on a very important quest, I don't have the luxury to stop and make friends. So thanks, but no thanks. [as he talks his walls come up and he sounds cold]

{What kind of quest?}

Cedar: It's a very important quest, one that doesn't concern you, now if you'll excuse me, I need to work on re-enchanting my armor. You should go and attend to your sleeping party members.

Cedar: [through clenched teeth] I don't need any help. Not from you, not from anybody. Now, if you don't mind, leave me alone, while I'm still being nice

{why won't you let me help you?}

Cedar: [growls in frustration as he explodes with anger] Because I failed to protect my home!! (takes a few deep breaths before turning away) now please, leave me alone... (sounds like he's trying to hold back tears)

{sits down on the ground next to Cedar}

Cedar: I thought I said to leave me alone... (absolutely defeated)

Cedar: You truly are too sweet for this cruel world Firefly. No one deserves your kindness. Least of all me.

Cedar: [sighs] my home was destroyed in a major fire... and it was all my fault..

Cedar: Yes it was! I'm the Midnight Guardian, protector of the Enchanted Forest. The fire happened during MY shift, on MY watch! I was supposed to protect it and I failed!

Cedar: (deep breaths) you're right, you're right, gotta take deep breaths, blowing up at you won't help. (2 more deep breaths) Ok, I'm good.

Cedar: It happened about 2 moons ago, I was guarding the only entrance to the forest when a small group of knights approached me, and greeted me with a salute. They told me that they were on official business charged by the crown, to collect ingrediants for the royal healer and at that moment, I did notice that there was a cloaked figure among them, who I assumed to be the royal healer. So after looking over their paperwork and confirming that it was legit, I let them in.

Cedar: Our Queen made a treaty with one of your kings, to which it stated that as long as you humans left our forest alone and treated fairies with respect, your healers and potion makers may enter our forest and harvest it's rare ingredients. Permits required of course. Since they had their permits, I let them in. About an hour or two later, they left with the ingredients and everything seemed normal, until...

Cedar: Yeah, next thing I knew, my whole forest was set a blaze. I raced to the life tree to warn everyone, but I was too late. The fire was too hot and the smoke made it impossible to see, so I had no choice but to flee the forest.

My armor, when enchanted, may help protect me from most things, but it's not fireproof. If I had stayed or pushed forward through the fire, I would have been cooked alive.

After a while, the fire burned itself out and I ran to the life tree and found the charred remains of my home, my whole village gone.

No signs of life anywhere. (Cedar's getting a bit emotional as he gets lost in the memory before sounding angry again)

Those reckless knights burned my home to the blooming ground! They destroyed my home. They killed my family! (growls)

In that moment I vowed to avenge my people and destroy all reckless and idiotic knights!

{How do you know they died? Did you find their remains or something?}

Cedar: Well, when a fairy dies, they turn to fairy dust, and fairy dust helps to create new plants, so in a way those who have passed live on in a way. Unfortunately fairy dust looks very similar to ash, you'd think it'd be sparkly but it's not.

Cedar: ok Look, I know that you're trying to make me feel better, and I would love to believe that my family and people were able to get away, but I can't. It'd be too painful to get my hopes up.

{...}

Cedar: Hm? You have a proposal for me? (sounds confused) it's not a marriage proposal is it?

{NO (blushes)}

Cedar: (laughs) ok ok, what is this non-marriage proposal that you have for me?

{...}

Cedar: Ok, so you're suggesting that we go back to my home forest and if we find it lush w/plant life you'll leave me alone to continue my quest, but if its still barren and devoid of life you'll help me find my people? Really? You'd do that for me, a stranger who just tried to kill you and your party?

{Yep}

Cedar: Why? (very confused)

Cedar: because that's what friends do. You are a very strange human (sighs in defeat) you're not gonna let this go are you?

{Nope}

Cedar: yeah I thought so. (sighs) Ok fine, I'll take you back to my forest, but on the condition that you help me re-enchant my armor

Cedar: what do you mean by, you have a better idea?
(Listener uses magic on cedar) Whoa! Wait What are you doing?!

[Magic sounds as Cedar grows to human size]

Cedar: (groans) Wha-What the heck was that? Feels like I was struck by lightning and kicked by a horse... (growls as he stands up) Firefly, you better explain your- (cuts himself off with a gasp when he realizes) I-I'm as tall as a human.
(stutters) I don't understand, why did you-

Cedar: (chuckles) you're right, now i can wear my armor without enchanting it, and if I hide my wings I'll look just like a half-elf. No one would know that The Dreaded Black Knight is a fairy. Well... except for your sleeping party members.

{No problem}

Sfx: magic sounds

C: Oh I see, you're altering their memories! Well aren't you a clever little firefly (impressed)
Maybe you're worth keeping around afterall (mutters under breath before clearing throat)
Um, firefly, would you mind helping me put on my armor when you're done with that? I've never done it before (nervous chuckle)

Cedar: thank you.

Sfx: Armor sounds fade as time skips

Cedar: Alright I think we're all set to go now. You ready firefly?

Cedar: Great. Um..before we go, I just wanted to say I'm sorry for being rude and difficult earlier. I-I know that doesn't excuse my behavior and I don't expect you to forgive me, but know that I really am sorry. I'm very grateful that you listened as I..unloaded my..emotional burdens on you.

Cedar: Then I guess I'm very lucky and fortunate to have a friend like you. (smiles)

Speaking of which, there's one more thing you probably should know about me

{...?}

Cedar: My name is Cedar
