

PERSONALITY

Mun-Hee is a ball of sunshine in human form. So full of energy and always excited about something, radiating golden retriever energy is what his youtube viewers say. He never seems to get upset about anything, though he actually can but he hides it behind a bright smile and goes on about his life. He has s2hown that he can be quite stubborn about stuff and determined as well, never giving up on something that he puts his mind to. He has some moments of sarcasm but he never uses his sarcasm to be malicious to others. He has also been noted to be a bit naive & gullible about stuff.

QUOTE HERE?

WRITTEN APPEARANCE Mun-Hee stands at a rather average height is what he might say, standing at 5'7". He is rather slim, maybe even classified as scrawny but not because he doesn't eat a lot, trust me when i say he eats everything and just doesn't gain any weight from it. He has fluffy and wavy dark brown hair that seems to have a mind of its own and refuses to work with him and hairbrushes. His eyes are naturally brown but he ALWAYS is wearing blue color contacts, though sometimes he will branch out and try new colors.

Mun-Hee always loved video games and was always off playing some kind of game while others were off playing sports, that was fine with him though because games just felt like the "funner" option to him. His parents didn't really mind Mun-Hee playing games because he was a good student and made good grades despite always playing games. As he rolled into his teenage years he started watching video game youtubers and streamers and he knew right away what he wanted to do.

SAMPLE

"Today on munbun plays a game for you to watch and maybe enjoy. I will scare the soul out of my body with a new horror game! It's fine, souls are overrated and if that happens I can be a cutesy ghost on stream instead ~! Wait, you wouldn't be able to see me .. Scratch that! It's fine, my soul will stay where it is!"

He didn't fully get his start on youtube until he was seventeen but once he started he never stopped. Always finding new games to make videos about and stream. Always open to collabs with other youtubers. He gained a following rather fast for his upbeat attitude and his cutesy appearance that caught people's eye a lot of the time. He logged on as munbun and started out without showing his face, maybe a bit shy at first but everyone loved his cutesy sounding voice and it made him want to do a face reveal which he did after one year of having his channel. He has since grown more as a youtuber, gaining more subscribers daily and making new videos all the time. He loves what he does and loves those that watch his videos. He wouldn't trade his life for the world.
