I believe the fastest way we can learn is through osmosis, when we see real life examples of how to use The Apollo Method.

This is why I have asked students to contribute screenshots of their conversation so that we can all learn from them. You can contribute more screenshots to the link above, and I might add it into this document.

Firstly, I will be revealing how I managed to set appointments and do video interviews with Dr Patrick Liew (Entrepreneurship and raising capital), Mr Sean Seah (Value Investing), Mr Andrew Tan (Ecommerce Expert) and Mr Cayden Chang (Value Investing).

I'll also show you my template of getting interviews with highly successful people that I have listed here: www.alaricong.com/p/interviews.html

How do you normally get your clients?

I usually partner with financial advisors. So when they advice on the financial aspect, most of the time client is on high interest rate be it on HDB loan (2.6%) or their current bank loan. There is where i came in and do fact finding and recommend the appropriate packages.

Aside from that most are from referrals either from existing clients or friends.

Yes haha previously when I bought BTO I also choose HDB loans instead of bank loans because banks rates may fluctuate. I agree HDB loans are quite high but stable

Ahh I see. Okok then can opt for fixed rates ba. Lowest is at 1.4% fixed for 5 years. With lower interest rate, you pay your loan faster. At 2.6%, close to 50% you pay every month goes to interest payable instead of principal. Thats why many people are opting for change. But I always leave it to client comfort level. 🤔
