

Agoge New Identity

Myself in the next 3 months:

Day in a life- I wake up with the fire in my blood with the feeling of conquering every single day. Pump some push ups to get started with my day. Work extremely hard to provide massive results to clients and make 15k/month, train hard to look sexy for all the women.

Key Habits- Always outreaching to prospects, writing copy to improve marketing IQ when I'm not in school and providing results to clients.

What does he have that I don't- Money, ability be consistent with work

What has he accomplished- Now he is able to fly business class without parents paying for him, buy gifts for his parents and not worry about school since he has finance

What traits does he have? What does it look like in his life specifically? Ability to never give up even on tough times even if I lose all the money. When there is no money coming in I will put in the work to make sure I at least make $500

How do other men see him?why?

A man worthy of respect because of how he dresses and finance

How do women see him?why?

The dreams of her life. Has his life in order confident and sexy.

What are his non-negotiables? Getting at 20 outreach every single day, watch the morning power up call.

What traps did he avoid? Self doubt acknowledging that any form of doubt can lead to a failure.

What are his key phrases- “I am Achirafe Samimo I will always be a winner”

“I will not rest until I buy my father his dream car”