Nationality: American

Height: 6'2
Weight: 200
Eye colour: Emerald Green
Hair Colour: Dark Brown

Physical Appearance: Vivian possesses a voluptuous figure, and is not ashamed of it in the slightest. She has a pair of D cup breasts, nice shapely hips, and a nice butt to go with them. Her hair is long and goes down to the middle of her back, straight and parted down the middle. She also possesses nails she seems able to sharpen at will. Her skin is a light emerald green, though it was originally a dark sap green.

Occupation:

- Biochemist (Formerly)
- Toxicologist (Current/Formerly worked for a company that caused the accident that gave her powers.)
- Supervillainess

Areas of Operation:

- Lazarus Pharmaceuticals (Formerly, assumed dead)
- Paladice City
- Home Office

Weapons:

- Tail
- Hands
- Skin
- Tail
- Claws
- Custom Dart Gun

Powers:

- Toxigenesis: After an accident at Lazarus Pharmaceuticals, Vivian received this ability. The ability itself has made her body able to make and secrete various forms of Venoms, Toxins, and Poisons. She is also able to, through sheer force of will, alter components of the Venoms, Toxins, and Poisons enabling her to create all new ones never before seen and with unique qualities. An unforeseen side effect is that she can sharpen her nails at will into claws.
- Liquid/Gas Secretion: Her body is able to discharge the deadly materials from her body in either liquid or gaseous form. She is able to manipulate how it leaves her body, either through her hands, skin, mouth, nails, saliva, etc. She is able to control the dosage normally. But she is also able to direct it with frightening accuracy should it be generated from her hands.

- Poison Empowerment: Due to her now changed physiology, she has now been naturally strengthened. Her strength, stamina, speed, and reflexes are much higher than normal.
- Toxic immunity: She is immune to all forms of Toxins, Poisons, and Venoms.
- Disease Immunity: She also seems to be immune to all forms of ailments as well as Diseases that can afflict normal humans.
- Biological Immortality: Just like a bacteria, she seems to be stuck at the age she was when she was transformed by her accident. It is most likely she will not age past the age of 26.

Fighting Styles:

- Fighting Style that incorporates her tail and her claws.
- Grapples
- Holds
- Freestyle Fighting

Strengths:

- She has a high amount of Toxicology Knowledge & Biology Knowledge, making her abilities all the more dangerous.
- She is quite an intelligent tactician.
- Due to her experience as a Toxicologist and Biologist, she has a firm grasp of her fields and what they pertain to.
- She's a tad skilled with electronics and mechanics.
- She's very good at hiding the truth.

Weaknesses:

- Though she is unable to die of aging, poisons, and sickness, she is still vulnerable to other methods of death.
- Though she is a tad skilled in electronics and mechanics, she is not an expert. Anything more complex, and she will be lost.
- Though she is a tactician, her plans aren't perfect.
- If certain abilities are possessed by others, they can fight against her poisons and such.

Outfits:

- Venom Lass Outfit: She wears a form fitting modified body black suit. The suit lacks sleeves and is backless, the way it's attached is via the neck. Her shoulders and arms are exposed, but covering her forearms to her hands, are a pair of modified gloves. They lack fingers and palms to them. She wears wetsuit like shoes with open toes. She has dark green trim on the suit and these dark green liquid looking design lines on the torso.
- Civilian Wear: She usually wears a white button up blouse, grey jogging pants, a pair of half moon glasses, and black slipper like shoes.

Bio: Born Valerie Quinn, the future super villainess worked for a prestigious Pharmaceutical company known as Lazarus Pharmaceutical as a Toxicologist/Biologist among a team of similar professionals. As time went on Lazarus Pharmaceuticals Board of Directors had taken up a military contract to develop a Biological Weapon that could clear a bunker with relative efficiency. by injecting an experimental Irritated Toxin directly into the bloodstream and mutating the infected blood further. In order to test the sample Valerie and her team unknowingly developed, the Board appointed the head of Valerie's team to find a candidate with specific blood type which supposedly could hold the Toxin within the blood cells, but they would have to take a fresh infected blood sample straight away. However, they were obligated by law to get the consent of the subject. Valerie was found to be the only team member with the suitable blood type. After informing her that they would do a controlled injection, just enough to directly infect her blood then take a sample. The amount would result in flu like symptoms, but then they would administer the antidote the next day fully purge it from her system. Valerie consented and was given the injection. However, several hours after being injected, the Toxin in her system started to mutate and she died a few feet from the door in the lobby.

Paramedics took her body to the morgue to perform an autopsy. At the same time Lazarus's Board, not wanting a lawsuit, wiped all records of her employment and paid every member involved in the accident to be silent. However, while on the table preparing to be opened up, Valerie underwent a drastic metamorphosis. The Toxin, having mutated her blood so much, started to alter her physiology on a cellular level. The Toxin soon ceased to be, but the changes had been done. Her once dark sap green skin becoming a light emerald green, and her body becoming strengthened, she awakened and killed the mortician. It was then she discovered her abilities to create Toxins and the like naturally from her body. Discovering that she was checked in under the name Jane Doe and that her employment records had been wiped by Lazarus Pharmaceuticals, she fashioned her new name Vivian Lang, and departed the morgue. For a year, she let her family believe she was truly dead, and fashioned a costumed identity of Venom Lass to take revenge upon the ones that stole her old life from her. And she succeeded in assassinating all involved. With no loose end tying her to her old life, she fashioned her new identity as a Toxicology consultant by day, but the Venomous Venom Lass by night. Working from home, she has a fairly stable lifestyle.

Personality:

- Vivian is a fairly quick witted woman, having a good sense of humour.
- She is quite confident in herself, she trusts her intuition and strength.
- She's quite intelligent, able to hold higher conversation quite easily.
- If she sees someone she likes, she'll become coy and flirtatious.
- Beneath this exterior however is a darker center. Vivian is someone who is not to be crossed. She's vindictive, merciless, sociopathic, and can at times come across as extremely cold. But it's just because of what life turned her into.
- Though she does kill, most of the times in cold blood, she does show regret if she knew the person or respected them to a degree.
- On killing innocents, she tends to be random, almost eccentric.
