

MOTHER 4

“The Village of Seikatsu”:

A warm summer's day, blooming flower buds on the sakura trees,
Minka-town, as it is known; Tranquil, collective, and jubilee.
Smiles frolic through the morning rise, luminescent forest sway to a humble beat,
Yet like a ray of hope goes through the air and heat. Schooling, the lessons we share,
Has been put to rest, for there is more to bare; Bustling joy from children is due,
The lakes all around, sway smoothing like silk, the droplet swerving so gracefully.
A time of 200X, is where our journey lies, to see what power goes beyond sights.

“Sato, The Curious, Green-and-Yellow Striped Boy”

Three points on top, sharp as a needle, with a gleaming glow on his face.
With a strong-wielded set of wonder and thirst for knowledge, he sets off without a trace.
Ambitious to his word, he kisses his mother and journeys off to the unknown,
With his companion of loyalty and stubbornness, Boui, they head into the breeze of life,
Strive to live the lives that they can hold in their hand, as they face lions, tigers, and bears.
This is where they stand. Like Kintaro with his animal friends, creatures of Sakashi Forest...?
They became tame and freshly new, reborn from their hearts, as our animal friends wave to them, Wishing luck on their endeavors. The merchants, they go, buying freshly made cakes, to celebrate their mother for what they do, as they skip onto home, and to say “I love you”.

“Maebashi Theater”

It was foretold that a sportsman, a genius, and a hopeless romantic shall help save this world.
With their shining, maroon-and-golden tickets, they set off, with their dog in tow,
They head to the place of plays and acts that hide secrets below. A certain grounding,
With a rumble and a shake with urgency, the theater falls to the despairing circumstance of it all.
A flash of swiftness, were the four whisked away, to new destinations, as they lie in slumber,
What will lead our heroes, I seem to ponder? The awakening of new beginnings, a sense of rebirth is upon them so, as they enter a bit-by-bit, pixelated land ahead, where new selves arise, as they leave their old selves dead.

“Pasokon, the Land of Technology”

A land with the hues of marine, aqua, azure, as it shines the line between the imaginary and real;
What we sense as illusion, and what we use to sense as real. “Toru, wake up!” The dog cries,
As she knows that her master must come to subside his slumber to rise. Like a well, swelling up with questions for the new, like a fresh breath of air, smelling the grass and its droplets with dew.
The small radio next to our friends startled them with a shock, as the radio started to bounce from side to side, and even started to talk! They warned of the dangers up ahead, to not be a burden so deep, as he teaches them new powers, and to protect the weak. “PSI” he calls it, the power of their hearts connect to one another so deeply; As the hopeless romantic finds the sportsman handsomely. No time for games, giggles, and good gags, for that there was a fiendish villain waiting at the tallest tower. There was no time to wait, as they struck towards that hour. So with their will, they reached the top, paused to a stop, to make this said villain of cord strings, screens, and lightning drop. They do so with their new profound power and trust, as the villain retreats, “Hooray for their courage, hooray for us”, the residents claimed to call, as our heroes move on, as they try returning home, with no time to stall. They wave goodbye to their pixelated friends, as this chapter of this story has come to an end.”

MOTHER 4

“Kana, the Flower-Dress Lover Girl”

The hopeless romantic, as they head out to the next land, they go, holding the hand of the sportsman, with jealous and rambunctious nipping from the genius, head to toe; Furthermore, the genius decides to let go, as a leader he keeps the moral he shows. “You deserve one another, it’s as pure as light, as you guys dance in the heavenly moonlight.” The girl with the basket on her head, yes, that is she. As she dances the night away, waltzing with thee.

“Sakura, the Land of Dreams”

Ah, yes, the land of hopes, wishes, and thrills.

Just thinking about it can give your heart warmth and chills.

To succeed and take the helm of your life foretold, to go ahead and break the mold, to move on with dignity more and more, you will find yourself that you will soar.

As a white pigeon dove, as gentle as can be, comes down to help our team, her eyes with glee, to give them what they need.

As they travel through lands of toys, Santa Claus, and their deepest desires made true, it seems that another monstrous foe has also made the residents feel a bit blue.

This time, however, a dragon has taken over, with its scales and teeth so bold and despairing, as our heroes meet up into a cave without the case of their courage disappearing.

Defeat, the dragon is, as it flies, as our heroes meet on the other side.

“Toru, The Lab-Coated Scientist”

A genius of the field, yet thought his fate was sealed; The so-called de-facto leader of the group. A responsible one, yes this is he, who tries to take care of those in need. As he takes pride in his role, this was his silent agreement, to protect his best friends, and dog, with good reason. To no extent, there should be no treason. But as his friends are in danger, in the Land of Umina, near a breathable sea, he seems to suffocate within the mind, about whether to put his pride aside, and to stand up in line with a new sense of something to find inside.

“Umina, the Land of Oceans”

The place of the sea, a liquid splash so serene, our friends in tow, made our heroes worry with less expense, and more to lean. A sea monster next, was our heroes next goal, to bring back another Memoriie, that the kraken had stole. They swam and darted towards the scene, where at last they find the treasure, and the Memoriie they must retrieve. The kraken, so fierce, blast of as fast as a PK Flash, as our heroes dash, to the Memoriie that lied in the stash. As a party was held, strictly in their honor and glory, they must be going now, onto the next adventure, foretold to be.

MOTHER 4

“Atoné, the Land of Activity”

Finally, a land with adventure, chivalry, and sportsmanship. A land of where the people start to play! Where there can be challenges, hardships, and rural areas of a championship to pay. At last, the final destination has arrived, where Sato and Boui can learn to stand side by side. No matter the odds, no matter the trial, no matter the cause, as the game plays on, it is never all for naught; Sweet bitter sorrow, is a losing game, a winner's decided to support their fellow clause. Pause, as all is fair, love and war, a battle of life, is what is in store. As Sato swings his bat, ramming around town, he has let to let his teammates down in a frown. Hear the crack of a bat shamble the air, as it makes a tear. Where? Over there, but the country side. The team has one, all shouts with glee, as they finally got the last Memoriie!”

“Devian, Sato, and Le Fin: Living The Life You Want”

At last, they return to home, where they can meet their family again, where the quiet town roams. Suddenly, the screen shuts off like a TV that powers down. A rumbling and sky-shaking form of energy crashes like a sea wave into the atmosphere above, causing a huge storm to be condemned into a grave danger, and as everything goes on later, it starts to change, allowing our gang of pals to be curioiser and curioiser. Our group dashes into a bustling rush, sensing the commotion of the town's people outside, when faced with a grave villain: Devian. The battle begins, to protect the town's people and friends, as these group of allies will defend this place till the very end. Toru starts off with a bang of a rocket, shooting off like a star burst stream of sparks; Flying through the air, it attacks with a BANG. As Devian, the giant oni, steps from left to right like in a tang-tang. As Boui steps up, with a bite and scratch at a time, Kana steps up with a PK Fire oh-so sublime! The team goes and does an all out attack, again and again, but it turns out Boui sniffs out a specific weakness developing from his heart that he knows. “Devian needs a friend...” as Devian explains about a world all too familiar, as nothing in the world was ever as dearer to him. Yes, a world full of predictable people and predictable troubles galore, as he had nothing to do, and the bitterness made him sore even more. As Sato uses his HomeRun one last time, to heal his frustrating heart, he comes to the light, as an angel so gleam. A child that looks like Sato emerged into scene. Known as the Minka-Town Potluck of Peace, years now later, in the “Seikatsu Outbreak”, as it was called on the news, for that our towns potluck proves there was no more blues. Living the life you want, with your friends so dear, near, as we both laugh and cry shedding tears. Hear, and be here, as Sato tells you, that life wouldn't be complete without YOU.

Original Draft:

MOTHER 4 (Concept Cast + Details):

Sato - MC; Fav Thing is “HomeRun”, Fav Food is “Croquette Rolls”

Toru - MCs best friend! Teaches Sato how to unlock PSI that he sensed.

Boui - Sato’s dog; Loyal and very friendly.

Kana - The girl of the group and love interest of Sato

Setting: “Seikatsu” - A small town that is peaceful and yet so eventful for Sato. The year is 200X.

Mechanic: Befriend - Make enemies into good guys or tamed without needing to fight.

Mechanic: Channeling - Use the world’s energy to create powerful PSI attacks!

Mechanic: PSI Customization - Using your PSI knowledge to make your own custom Fav Thing moves!

Locations - The types of locations set in the beautiful home of Seikatsu! Such as Maebashi Theater! They will also be collecting fragments of what they collect called “Memorie”.

Maebashi Theater - Based on Itoi’s accident at the theater, Sato, Toru, and Boui get sucked into the movie in a scene after the original movie they seen was over. The movie they seen was called “Radiowave”.

“Radiowave” (First Area) - Is a troubled world where voices apparently come from all sorts of technology and objects. Using said radiowaves, they are able to use PSI. This is how Toru learned it thanks to a small radio named “Bizztz”, teaches him to translate those transmutation of radio waves and broadcast said PSI.

“Yakult Swallows” - A sports themed area known for it’s love of baseball, team spirit, and what it means to work together. Toru learns the meaning behind what this means, even if he feels like he always led the way. Now he has to grow into a better person by letting Sato take the helm to help win the game!

“Love Letters” - A sweet and comfortable feeling based part of the Movie World which it was now Kana’s room to grow. She starts to feel a bit worried that she’ll never be able to say what she wanted to Sato, which can be hard for a kid to do. So, as they dance in a ballroom setting, Kana bravely asked, in which Sato pulls her in for a hug with a warm smile and a thank you. Kana realizes... this truly was the love story she had been waiting for. A best friend she can call for of course.

MOTHER 4

Seikatsu (AGAIN?!) - After they go home, they notice that time hasn't changed. However, they rush outside to notice something... as they head to bed for the night, the next morning, apparently little gremlins who look and act as the size of a small baby doll are rampaging through the city. It's up to you to use your PSI powers to take 'em out! But the trouble doesn't stop there... Apparently a bigger and even worse villain has decided to take on the heroes/main party, and as the group has decided to fight him in order to stop both the Movie World and Real World from merging, creating a catastrophic event, they use their PSI and the power of the "Memories" to take him out. He can't be defeated even with them. Finally, after all this time, we finally have something. Boui was able to sniff out his weakness. He actually came to merge the places because he felt the Movie World was too mundane. Too... predictable. So, he travels to the Real World. Turns out Sato and him, Devian, the same villain, has a problem in their lives: Living life as life passes them by without taking initiative. They decided then and there, in the heat of battle, that this was wrong. Fighting was wrong. Then... at that moment... they finally understood each other, not as enemies, but as allies. It turns out merging the two would cause chaos on Sekai, or in this case, the world. However, at the end of the game, new residents from the Movie World came to stay, letting it as a fun, wacky, zanny, goofy, silly, and yet serene and peaceful life for Sato and his friends. 10 years later, into the future, we see them grow up with a photo at the end credits. "No crying until the end. Live the life you want" is the final words in the credits scene.
