

Spell Nexus:

Description: Spell Nexus is the Headmaster of Celestia's School for Gifted Unicorns and Mystical Advisor to the Royal Court. Secretly he is the head of the Children of Midnight and plots to bring Nightmare Moon back to life. His voice is upper middle range and he is a very proper speaker. In fact, there is a line in the fic that states:

"Nexus spoke the words slowly with a voice that carried the tone of a pony well practiced in preaching, whose words could inspire loyalty and devotion. It was a voice that had drawn great minds and strong bodies to the cause."

"Our queen, guide me this night, for it is beneath this full moon that our efforts come to fruition. Let me be merely a vessel for your will and strength until the deed is done. Let me bear your mane, both powerful and beautiful, a depiction of the endless sky. Let me stand in your uniform, in the armor that pays tribute to your image and greatness. Let me be your agent this night, for it is you I serve above all others. May your power be with me, for, tonight, you shall breathe and taste the cool night air for yourself. You shall look upon the world with eyes of your own, and no longer will you be forced to share a body with a weak foal as you have in the past. Tonight, you shall be your own mare, never again to be threatened by the Elements of Harmony. Tonight, Nightmare Moon, your followers shall grant you a life of your own, and the tyrants of sun and moon shall fall."

"You have all done well, but now we must all take our places. Stonewall, take the sacred items to the center of the ritual. Gray Gale, Night Wind, prepare your torches and head to the sky."

Spike:

"Whoa, Twilight! I've never heard you pull rank like that, using your position as Princess Celestia's student to threaten somepony."

"Nuh-uh! No way, Twi. Princess Celestia would have my scales if she found out I let you go back into the Everfree Forest the day after you were ponynapped!"

"Do you really think Princess Celestia would just do that? I mean, she trusts you completely. I'm sure you could convince her that Nyx isn't Nightmare Moon."

(Feel free to use more lines from the show)

Shining Armor:

"Soldiers, attention!"

“No, I told them to go home and rest for a reason. The guard is made up of the toughest ponies in Equestria, but they are still ponies. They need time to sleep, they need time to eat, and they deserve to have some time with their families. We’ll just have to make do with these recruits for tonight.”

“I won’t sugar coat the truth. Equestria is in crisis. With Nightmare Moon threatening our princesses we need everypony to do their part. Now, I know you haven’t had much training. From what your drill sergeant has told me, you’ve barely gotten through the basics. That’s going to have to be good enough. You need to stand watch tonight so that the rest of the guard can get the sleep they need, and you will be relieved when Princess Luna returns at daybreak. Is that understood?”

(Feel free to use more lines from the show)

Filthy Rich:

“Miss Sparkle? I know we haven’t properly met, but I know you through our mutual friends over at Sweet Apple Acres. I’m Mr. Rich, a business associate of theirs, though it should be said that I’m not here on business.”

“Miss Sparkle! I can respect that you did what you did earlier today under duress. I doubt I’d act much differently if I was in your position. That, however, does not give you license to threaten my family.”

“We’ll discuss this when we get home. Until further notice, she is grounded. But, Miss Sparkle, don’t think this means you’re off the hook. Princess Celestia’s pupil or not, I will be discussing this matter with the mayor in the morning.”

(Feel free to use more lines from the show)

Proper Etiquette (Spell Nexus’ Butler):

“Sir Spell Nexus is in his study. I believe you know the way,”

“I do not know why Sir Spell Nexus called for you as he did, but I do believe you will find it difficult to get an answer unless you go and speak with him. Now, I must be off to the kitchen; Sir Spell Nexus does not like to host company without refreshment.”

Bastion Yorsets (Teacher at Celestia’s School for Gifted Unicorns):

“I do apologize for making you wait, Your Highness,”

“It is progressing, but slowly. The unicorns were making use of several very old forms of magic of which there are few records. The oil-soaked powders they were burning came from zebra magic. We also found records of unicorns using arcane designs to direct the flow of magic, but there are no actual books describing how such magical lines work. Things would undoubtedly be going better if we were able to get some information from the cultists. Have your guards been able to get any of them to talk?”

“That is a very theoretical branch of magic, Princess. Incomplete spells have been known to do a variety of things, and some never do the same thing twice.”

Guard (We'll need several, at least 4):

“FREEZE! YOU ARE ALL UNDER ARREST!!!”

“We have captured a great number, but we believe some were able to escape by using magic to disguise themselves. We believe it was an invisibility spell, and we followed their tracks into the forest. Unfortunately, the tracks eventually ended. We are currently working under the belief that the missing cultists realized their mistake and corrected the spell so it hid their tracks as well. We are continuing to search the forest with the aid of the zebra that reported your student's ponynapping.”

Stonewall:

Description: Stonewall is another member of the Children of Nightmare. He is one of Spell Nexus' most trusted allies. He is an Earth Pony so I would expect him to not have an accent like Spell Nexus would and probably a deep voice.

“Nexus, we're ready when you are.”

“They have not left my sight since our departure from Canterlot, Nexus.”

“And not all of us have cushy jobs like you do. The commander is already suspicious of why I was late reporting in after what happened in Everfree. I'm skating on thin ice with the Town Guard.”