

Corporate Sponsor,

As funding for the arts is slashed and community non-profits are gutted, connection and self-expression are more important than ever. Unfortunately, independent theater has been predominantly affected by these changes and we're inviting you to support our production to ensure the very art focused culture of San Francisco stays vibrant and in-tact, despite these obstacles. We believe this is a story the world needs and hope you do too.

About the Production:

Addiction rates continue to soar in this country, destroying families and devastating relationships, making substance abuse a relevant and relatable narrative to many. With a cast and crew who have experienced some of these very issues, each brings to the stage a life of shared experiences of failure, success, and struggle.

"The Motherfucker with the Hat" is a dark comedy that dives into the rawness of addiction, volatile relationships, and the elusive quest for redemption. Its characters grapple with cycles of betrayal, the fragility of trust, and the profound challenge of self-improvement, themes echoing loudly in today's social landscape. As communities continue to confront the ripple effects of substance abuse, economic instability, and fractured personal connections, the play's unvarnished portrayal of loyalty, accountability, and the struggle for a better life offers a mirror to contemporary American culture, exposing the enduring human need for stability amidst chaos.

In order to get this production off the ground, we're turning to the community to crowdfund a short run of performances August 28th-September 14th. We humbly ask for your support in exchange for direct marketing to our audience.

We're accepting donations of any size, however we have come up with several tiers and promotional offerings

- $1,000 Tier - Community Partner: Your logo on event signage, promotional materials, and social media mentions. Recognition as a Community Sponsor.
- $2,000 Tier - Arts Advocate: All benefits of the Community Partner tier plus a dedicated social media post and logo inclusion and a promotional page in the playbill.
- $3,500 Tier - Culture Champion: All benefits of the Arts Advocate tier plus a featured logo placement at the starting location, special mention in the event press release, and inclusion in the event recap email to participants.

We are excited to discuss sponsorship opportunities with you and explore ways your support can make a meaningful impact. Please feel free to reach out to us at hellamediallc@gmail.com for further details or to secure your sponsorship.

Small Business Owner,

As funding for the arts is slashed and community non-profits are gutted, connection and self-expression are more important than ever. Unfortunately, independent theater has been predominantly affected by these changes and we're inviting you to support our production to ensure the very art focused culture of San Francisco stays vibrant and in-tact, despite these obstacles. We believe this is a story the world needs and hope you do too.

About the Production:

Addiction rates continue to soar in this country, destroying families and devastating relationships, making substance abuse a relevant and relatable narrative to many. With a cast and crew who have experienced some of these very issues, each brings to the stage a life of shared experiences of failure, success, and struggle.

"The Motherfucker with the Hat" is a dark comedy that dives into the rawness of addiction, volatile relationships, and the elusive quest for redemption. Its characters grapple with cycles of betrayal, the fragility of trust, and the profound challenge of self-improvement, themes echoing loudly in today's social landscape. As communities continue to confront the ripple effects of substance abuse, economic instability, and fractured personal connections, the play's unvarnished portrayal of loyalty, accountability, and the struggle for a better life offers a mirror to contemporary American culture, exposing the enduring human need for stability amidst chaos.

In order to get this production off the ground, we're turning to the community to crowdfund a short run of performances August 28th-September 14th. We humbly ask for your support in exchange for direct marketing to our audience.

We're accepting donations of any size, however we have come up with several tiers and promotional offerings

Sponsorship Tiers:

- $100 Tier - Community Partner: A quarter page ad in the Playbill and a shoutout on our website
- $300 Tier - Arts Advocate: A half page ad in the Playbill and a shoutout on our website
- $500 Tier - Culture Champion: A full page ad in the Playbill and a shoutout on the website

We are excited to discuss sponsorship opportunities with you and explore ways your support can make a meaningful impact. Please feel free to reach out to us at hellamediallc@gmail.com for further details or to secure your sponsorship.