

PhD in Music Education,
Minor in Christian Education
HBI University

Course Duration: 3 years

Credit Hours: 105

Program Description

The Doctor of Philosophy (Ph.D.) in Music Education at HBIU University is designed to develop scholars, educators, and leaders who are dedicated to advancing music instruction, curriculum development, and educational leadership. This program provides an in-depth exploration of pedagogical methods, music theory, instructional design, and the role of music in cognitive and social development. By integrating both theoretical research and practical application, graduates will be prepared to contribute to academia, K-12 and higher education, arts administration, and curriculum innovation, shaping the future of music education for diverse learning environments.

The Minor in Christian Education specialization offers focused training on integrating faith-based principles with music instruction. This specialization explores topics such as worship music pedagogy, music in Christian ministry, faith-driven music curriculum development, and the spiritual impact of music education. Students will gain insights into how Christian values can be woven into teaching methodologies, preparing them for leadership roles in Christian schools, church music programs, and faith-based educational initiatives.
