- love the colors and icons but could play with a tiny bit softer fonts?
- maybe a slogan / description would work well here to instantly understand what you do?
- Hey Naya! I was looking through your site! I'm wondering if it would be better to not have the prices listed on the site? I feel like you might be undercharging just a bit but also you won't always know the scope of the work that the customer is gonna have. It might be better to do pricing on a more case by case basis? Forgive me if this is unsolicited advice. Of the examples though I like your second style better where you simply tell what kinds of services you are offering :)
- Hello! I would design with more contrast.
