

Miles "Tails" Prower the fox (Main Dimension)

Gender: Male

Age: 19 years old

Height: 2,63 ft

Description: Tails is a light orange fox with blue eyes. He has a mutation in the form of two tails, thanks to which he is able to fly and accelerate himself to high speeds. Tails is a kind and shy young fox with high intelligence and a craving for building and inventing new machines.

As a child, Tails was often bullied for his extra tail and for his inability to stand up for himself, which is why the fox ran away from his family, became a loner, hiding from society in forests and sparsely inhabited natural places, having only forest animals as friends. Also in his spare time, Tails assembled his own Tornado biplane from various parts and tools that he found in landfills or that he could steal unnoticed.

But one day, when Tails lived in Emerald Hills, Eggman flew to this place and landed a large troop of his robots in these places, which began to catch animals. Tails hid from these robots for a while, but one day he tried to save a few animals from a bunch of robots, but he himself fell into a trap, from which he was rescued by Sonic who arrived at the scene. The image of the fearless hedgehog Sonic sunk into Tails' soul so much that he decided to secretly follow the hedgehog.

Then there are events similar to the events of the "Sonic the Hedgehog 2" game. Tails followed Sonic, afraid to be alone while the Eggman robots were nearby, and also wanted to follow his hero. However, for some time Tails kept his distance from Sonic, afraid to annoy him with his stickiness, which was used against him by Eggman, who were tracking and catching a fox, and using him as bait to lure Sonic and get rid of him. Also, several times Eggman just wanted to robotize or directly kill the fox. Tails was greatly frightened by the anger and near-animal hatred with which Ivo reacted to him and other Mobians who interfered with him. Tails didn't feel anything kind and humane about the doctor. Only the desire for genocide and the joy of inflicting pain on them.

During their joint adventures, Sonic and Tails really rallied. Sonic learned to work in a team with Tails and they began to consider each like brothers.

Thanks to the support of Sonic, Tails plucked up the courage to return to the city where he had always been drawn and even joined the ranks of the "Freedom Fighters", working as their mechanic and inventor. He was also able to create an attack-defense mechanism of energy shields for the leader of the "Freedom Fighters", Sally Nettle. Thanks to his kind nature, Tails gets along with most Mobians.

Tails admires Sonic and tries to be like him. Tails has friendly relations with Knuckles, Amy, Sally and Cream, whom he even tried to teach to fly with the help of her ears. Tails has a latent dislike and fear of Eggman.

Story:

During the events of "NBR", Tails receives a signal from Sonic coming from the southern islands of Green Hills, after which he flies out to meet his friend. However, near the right point, the fox discovers a lot of dead animals, after which Sonic himself, who informs him about a certain maniac wandering around. Tails tries to convince Sonic to back off and notify the "Freedom Fighters" about this, but Sonic doesn't listen to him, and Tails agrees to help catch maniac now. Sonic quickly runs away, and when Tails tries to follow him, something hits the fox in the head and he loses consciousness. Recovering, Tails finds himself on Angel Islands. Trying to figure out if everything that was happening was a dream or not, Tails finds a bunch of explosive capsules that Eggman had previously used to bomb various strategic locations of the "Freedom Fighters". Suddenly, one of the bombs is activated and a huge explosion occurs, setting fire to the entire Angel Island. Tails survives. Soon, a confused and frightened fox is found by Sonic, which looks pretty deranged. Sonic accuses Tails of killing animals and threatens to take revenge on him for this, starting a chase. With difficulty breaking away from Sonic, Tails gets into the already burned part of the "Angel Islands" and a lot of Gray Warp Rings that move him to different parts of this place but not letting him get out of here. However, Tails soon notices that one of the rings has turned Black and red and decides to jump into it, finding himself in the Pocket Dimension of "Priceless Freedom" (Prototype of Blood Temple); where Exetior intercepts the fox and offers him to take the black ring to meet his best friend, Sonic. Not believing the words of Exetior, Tails runs away from Exetior, ending up in the underground part of the Scrap Brain "Desolation Scrap", where Exetior traps Tails, giving him a choice: (Stay trapped and wait for everything to end or get out and continue the fight, sacrificing the lives of innocent animals). Overcoming his inner fear, Tails chooses to fight and begins to kill animals, simultaneously losing his mind more and more from the smell of their blood and meat on himself. When all the animals have been killed, Exetior sneers at Tails' hidden cruelty and gives him a Black Ring, after which Tails begins the process of transformation into his demonic form.

However, since the Black Ring was a prototype version of a portable full-fledged demonization, it had some flaws, one of which was the inability to determine the "real" state of the person, which led to the fact that the temporary predatory clouding of the mind of Tails was perceived as the second "real" state of the person, which led to a split personality of the demonized Tails on his the usual and his predatory personality.

Later, when Knuckles and Ivo were also demonized, Exetior with Tails and Knuckles fly to the western islands.

During the events of "Finished Nightmare", the demonized Tails meets in the final confrontation with the surviving girls, being an opponent of Cream. Tails also makes another attempt to make peace with Sonic's mind, but Sonic, being under the influence of the "New Sonic" (Junter/Chaos-Hunter), refuses to believe him, considering him only an Exetior puppet. This makes Tails angry at Exetior, which contributes to a more frequent seizure of control by Inner Tails.

During the events of «Nightmare Shorts 3: Recall», Tails, along with Knuckles, participated in some special missions. One of these was the study of the new-discovered extinct "X-Dimension", and the search for the Time Stone which signal was detected there. After resisting the "sAnItY" virus trying to infect our boys' brains with its own virus, Tails finds a mysterious flying doll with the Time Stone connected to its head through a cord. The doll fled away and sent more sAnItY to Tails and Knuckles, not wanting to give up the stone, but Tails was still able to tear the jewel from the doll, which created an outbreak, after which the stone exploded, the doll fell to the floor losing all signs of life, and the "sAnItY" virus raged and tried to catch up with the violators. At the last moment, Tails and Knuckles managed to escape from the X-dimension, after which Pervision closed it, leaving it under his supervision for further study.

During the events of "Eye Of Three", the demonized Tails becomes more and more unstable, increasingly losing the battle for control of his body to Inner Tails, who kills Vanilla, without the possibility of her subsequent demonization. Tails paired with Knuckles help Exetior catch Cream and Sally, but fail. Exetior begins to understand the scale of the problem with Tails and begins injecting him with a serum that suppresses Inner Tails for a while.

During the events of "Cover Story"
(REDACTED)

Interesting facts:

- 1) Tails is very afraid of Eggman.
- 2) Tails is not very good at managing any Chaos-powered forms.
- 3) When Tails is not busy working on a new invention in his workshop, he likes to relax in the park, enjoying the view.
- 4) Tails was a flying mentor for Cream.
- 5) Tails is afraid of public speaking.
- 6) Tails' family was exterminated, but Tails doesn't know about it.
- 7) Tails made energy shields for Sally Nettle.