Conflict Resolution Program:
Elementary
(May 2025)

Program Overview:

The LEAD Public Schools (LPS) Elementary Conflict Resolution Intervention Program aims to foster a positive school climate by equipping students, staff, and parents with skills to manage and resolve conflicts constructively, using proactive strategies, skill-building, and restorative practices.

Program Goals:

- Reduce conflict incidents through skill development.
- Enhance communication and problem-solving skills.
- Promote restorative practices to address conflicts.
- Foster a respectful and inclusive school environment.

Program in Action:

LEAD Public Schools has a two-pronged approach to educating all school stakeholders in conflict resolution:

1. Social Emotional Learning (SEL) Partnership

LPS partners with BeWell, a local Social-Emotional Learning (SEL) program designed to support students, staff, and families using mindfulness, yoga practices, affirmations, and shared practices among school team members. BeWell programming includes personal reflection, reflecting on individual actions and words, and maintaining harmony with others- all key components of conflict resolution.

BeWell promotes a holistic approach to social-emotional health through a variety of daily and ongoing practices. These include daily breathing routines, mindfulness exercises, and yoga poses that help students and staff develop focus, calm, and emotional regulation. Affirmations are used to build positive self-awareness, while peace corners in classrooms offer spaces for self-reflection and regulation. The program also emphasizes co-regulation practices, supporting both individual and group emotional well-being. A dedicated, trained BeWell teacher serves as the campus SEL Manager, guiding these practices and providing a dedicated classroom equipped with sensory tools and resources to support social-emotional health across the school.

2. Comprehensive School Culture Programming

LEAD Public Schools implements a comprehensive school culture framework that rewards productive behaviors and incentivizes conflict resolutoin skills, while responding to unproductive behaviors with restorative practices including explicit teaching of essential social-emotional skills for respectful engagement.

Data Tracking
LEAD Public Schools uses DeansList, an online data tracking system, to identify and respond to student support needs as well as to communicate with families about student progress, ensuring the full community is behind each and every child.

Peer Mediation
LPS maintains that emphasis on and explicit social emotional instruction equips students with the skills necessary to resolve conflict. Elementary schools serving grades 3-5 will introduce peer mediation training to empower student leaders.
