How Do You Apply to the California Community Colleges?

CCCApply is the online application for almost all California Community Colleges (CCCs). When you're ready, you can launch CCCApply from CaliforniaColleges.edu. That way, you can track your status in My Plan.

Before you begin:

 - Click the heart icon to favorite colleges you like. You can find your favorites in your College List in My Plan.
- Choose your major.

- If you think you might want to get your bachelor's degree, learn about the Associate Degree for Transfer \(ADT\).

CCCApply tips:

As you fill out your application online, click the question marks for help with each question. Here are some helpful tips for a few of the application sections.

Address:

When you create your CCCApply account, you'll have to give your permanent address. You should put your parent's or guardian's address if you're under their care or control, even if you don't live with them. You can put your own address if:

- You are or were married, or you're legally emancipated.
- You're on active duty in the military.
- You don't have a living parent or guardian.
- You've been supporting yourself for at least one year.

You can also check a box to show that you're homeless. Learn about resources for homeless students.

High School Transcript Information:

This information helps your college advise you. It also helps them place you in the right classes. It doesn't affect your enrollment. It's a good idea to have a copy of your high school transcript handy as you answer these questions.

- Grade Point Average: Enter your unweighted high school GPA. That's the GPA that doesn't give extra weight to AP or honors classes. It won't go above 4.0. If you're still in high school, use your GPA for all your classes through 11th grade.
- Highest English and math courses: Select the highest level class you completed and your grade.

If you've taken classes at another college, you'll need to send in a transcript to get credit for them. Talk to your college admissions office for details.

Supplemental Questions:

Answer as many of these extra questions as you can, even if they're optional. Your college will use your answers to:

- Better understand your needs.
- See if you qualify for special programs or support services.

Submission:

This is the last section before you submit your application.

- Be sure to review your responses. Once you click submit, you can't make changes.

After you apply:

After you apply, you'll get a welcome email. It'll include your student ID number. You'll need that number to access services at your campus. You'll also get information about orientation, placement, and enrolling in classes. If you can, take steps to get priority registration. You'll have a better chance of getting into the classes you want before they fill up. Here's what you'll need to do.

1. Complete orientation. You'll learn about financial aid, registration, support services, degrees, and education planning.
2. Complete assessment. Your college will assess your skill-level in math and English and place you into first-year classes. Learn more about placement.
3. Create an education plan. You'll work with a college counselor to set goals and plan your courses.
4. Register for classes. Enroll in your first semester classes online.

Your campus may have other steps you need to take. Be sure to keep up with your emails and follow-up on action items as soon as you can. Reach out to your college if you have questions.
