

Stop the Mountain Valley Pipeline!

Appalachians Against Pipelines is calling for nationwide actions against financial backers of this 303-mile fracked gas pipeline across West Virginia and southwest Virginia, with a possible extension into North Carolina. Local folks are on the ground putting their bodies on the line. We can support them by exposing the role of the banks in supporting this unneeded project that is destroying the homes and land, water and air of local people and the Appalachian Trail that it crosses, and would significantly worsen the climate crisis if it goes online.

Maury Johnson, a retired West Virginia educator, and an organic farmer whose land was ruined when MVP, LLC took it by eminent domain to run the pipeline across it, is a fierce pipeline fighter and will give us an update on the fight.

Wednesday, January 31, noon to 1 PM
Bank of America, the biggest funder of the MVP
157 Church St., New Haven (on the Green)

Questions? Text 203.623.2186