

Corea Kim
Financial Supports Commissioner

Hey Bruins,

My name is Corea Kim, and I am running to be your next Financial Supports Commissioner (FSC). This year, I've had the honor of serving as the Assistant Commissioner within the Financial Supports Commission, where I have seen firsthand how our office impacts the student body. Some of our current initiatives include: direct financial support for students' basic needs, student discounts in Westwood, free lab coat rentals, and commuter parking scholarships. Working within this role has taught me about the inner workings of USAC and the importance of student-led advocacy. More importantly, it's shown me exactly what needs to be fixed within USAC to ensure our student government works to support you. I have learned that meaningful change happens when students take an active role in improving policy, and I am inspired by the sheer potential that we have to make UCLA more accessible. I am ready to bring new ideas, energy, and accountability to this position to ensure that every student is financially supported and heard.

I am committed to starting the year strong by promoting financial resources that benefit all students. I plan to increase financial transparency and responsibility across USAC and its subsidiaries, implementing programs that highlight funding resources and launching new initiatives that directly aid students' financial needs. My mission is simple: to ensure that every dollar is being used to the direct benefit of the student body.
