The author(s) agree to the following terms:

Originality of the Submission and Publication Status

All components of the manuscript submitted to the journal (including the text, tables, figures, charts, graphics, images, and any other materials) constitute the original work of the author(s). The manuscript has not been submitted to any other journal for consideration and has not been published previously, in whole or in part. The author(s) accept full responsibility for the originality and academic integrity of the manuscript.

Validity of the Agreement and Confidentiality of the Editorial Process

If the manuscript is not deemed suitable for publication by the relevant journal within Düzce University, this declaration shall be rendered null and void, and neither the journal nor the publisher shall assert any rights over the manuscript content. All information and documents generated during the editorial and peer-review processes shall be treated as confidential and safeguarded in accordance with the confidentiality principles adopted by Düzce University journals.

Use of Third-Party Materials and Author Responsibility

The author(s) declare that the manuscript does not contain plagiarism and that they accept the journal's similarity screening procedures. The author(s) further warrant that all elements of the manuscript (including text, tables, figures, graphics, photographs, data, and other materials) do not infringe upon the copyright, personal rights, or proprietary rights of any third party. Any legal liability arising from potential copyright infringement shall rest solely with the author(s).

The author(s) acknowledge that they are jointly and severally responsible for the entire content of the manuscript, including its data, results, and compliance with ethical standards. Düzce University, the publisher, and the editors bear no responsibility in this regard. In cases where ethical violations, plagiarism, data fabrication, falsification, or other forms of research misconduct are identified, the journal reserves the right to reject the manuscript, retract it after publication, and notify the relevant institutions.

Revision Process and Commitment Regarding Content Changes

The author(s) declare and undertake that any revisions made following peer review will be strictly limited to the recommendations of the reviewers and editors. They agree not to modify the scientific content, results, data, or interpretations of the manuscript without informing the editor. Furthermore, the author(s) shall not add new references, remove existing ones, or make substantial bibliographic changes without prior editorial approval.

After the manuscript has been finalized in accordance with the journal's formatting requirements, any content or reference changes beyond reviewer recommendations shall be subject to the explicit approval of the editor. In the event of non-compliance with these obligations, the Editorial Office reserves the right to suspend the review process, initiate a new evaluation, or reject the manuscript.

Copyright, Licensing, and Usage Rights

If the manuscript is accepted for publication, the author(s) agree that the article may be used by third parties under the Creative Commons Attribution–NonCommercial 4.0 International License (CC BY-NC 4.0). This license permits the sharing and adaptation of the manuscript for non-commercial purposes, provided that appropriate attribution is given. Detailed information regarding the license is available at: https://creativecommons.org/licenses/by-nc/4.0/

The author(s) declare that all copyright, patent rights, and other proprietary rights related to the manuscript remain with them. All stages of manuscript submission, evaluation, publication, and access are entirely free of charge. The journal retains the right to reproduce, distribute, publish the manuscript in digital formats, and archive it.
