

Dear Dr. XXX,

My name is _____, a (your year and major), and I am interested in interviewing you and writing about your research in UNC's premier research science journal Carolina Scientific. Our mission is to produce a publication each semester that focuses on the new and exciting research conducted here at UNC. As a Staff Writer for the magazine, I am highly interested in your research into _____ because _____. I believe your perspective would greatly enrich our magazine and provide our readers with valuable insights into _____. The interview would be conducted in a format that is convenient for you, whether it be on Zoom or in an in-person meeting. For more information about who we are as Carolina Scientific, please feel free to check out our website - carolinascientific.org. If you would like to be interviewed, my available times and dates are _____ or we can choose another time that would work better for you. Thank you for considering my request and I look forward to the possibility of collaborating with you this semester.

Kind regards,
XXX
