➤➤ history & personailty

I love me so much I put my hands on myself

MBTI Type: ESFP - The Entertainer

Personality: Serena would describe herself as CONFIDENT - 100% that girl. However - she's just a spazz. High energy, enthusiastic, and a little bizarre - this Hufflepuff LIVES for creating gossip and drama. What's life without a little bit of drama? Ought to be her motto... as long as its not her own drama.

History: Lydia Park and Ji Yoo Moon met when Ji Yoo transferred from University of Seoul, South Korea to a University in London in order to have a semester abroad experience while he continued his studies in Chemistry. During the summer before the semester started, he met Lydia Park who was home for the summer from her studies at Hogwarts School of Witchcraft and Wizardry. The two had a summer romance, before Lydia had to go back to her boarding school for her Seventh year. She initially assumed it would be the end of her and Ji Yoo, however he asked if they could continue to write to each other and perhaps meet again over her breaks. Surprised by the offer, but encouraged nonetheless as she was quite interested, Lydia agreed and the two continued their romance. Once Lydia had graduated from Hogwarts, the pair only grew closer until Ji Yoo proposed and Lydia said yes, before then also letting him in on the secret of magic. Lydia attended WADA to study dance theory so that she could open her own studio in London, while Ji Yoo obtained permanent residency in London and was accepted as a chemistry teacher at a local school. They went on to have four children together and Serena was the last child. Her older siblings are triplets (Raxion, Micaiah, and Mycelia). She adores each one of them in their own way but has a special connection with her brother, Raxion. She loves to poke fun at his overprotective nature- especially when it comes to boys. During her fifth year at Hogwarts, she often found herself writing him letters with random photos of boys (poor victims who would be subjected to Raxion's wrath).
