

Hello lovely people,

Below are more web links IF YOU WANT THEM. There is no obligation here. But if your children are driving you crazy, these might be helpful.

Also, feel free to let go of the screens and

- Take a walk with your child. Talk to them. Put your phone away. Look at the ground changing as the season turns into spring. Notice things by speaking out loud about them. Your child will copy what you do.
- Prepare food with your child. If you are home with them all day, involve them in food prep. Teach them to chop with a knife and use a peeler—great for improving fine motor skills. Teach them to pour their own cereal and milk. If you can, have them help you cook. Show them the recipes. If you cook something you like, have them write down the recipe. Have them start a shopping list for the next time you go to the store or order online.
