Summary areas of experience:

I. Consulting Experience

▪ Monitoring and Evaluation Fieldwork

Broad experience in all developing regions, including in fragile systems and conflict-affected countries; in assessing action and progress on SDG4; in all sectors of basic and nonformal education, especially with respect to access and inclusion of marginalized groups, protection and gender equality; and in analysis of multi-level and horizontal collaboration in the context of systems change and organizational learning.

▪ Analysis and communication

Varied experience conducting, and supporting others to conduct, situation analyses and baseline research; summative, formative and participatory evaluation; development of capacity support and M&E frameworks; institutional, network and capacity assessments; programme design, management and monitoring. Much of this experience has involved working collaboratively through and with teams, both as team leader and as mentor to national research-evaluators. Strong analytical and communication skills, including report writing and presentation.

▪ Developing and Applying Evaluation Methods and Tools

All analyses and evaluations emphasise qualitative and participatory methods: document analysis, interviews, focus groups and observation. Regular use of OECD/DAC criteria and UNEG Guidance. Co-wrote a qualitative research manual for Gender Focal Point members of UNESCO/Bangkok's GENIA network.
