

The Delaware Department of Education used information provided by Ed Reports to produce this resource highlighting potential high quality instructional materials available for English Language Arts instruction. Emerging research reveals that high quality instructional materials impact student achievement and support teachers as they plan engaging, rigorous, instruction. EdReports.org is an independent nonprofit organization that publishes reviews of instructional materials, using an educator-designed tool that measures focus and coherence (standards alignment), rigor and usability. These reviews are written by educators and are vetted to ensure validity.

The Delaware Department of Education reviewed the reports and have listed the high quality English/Language Arts resources in the list below. This list is updated every January and July.

Districts and charter schools in Delaware can use this information to inform the curriculum adoption process and the effective implementation of materials. Districts and charter schools are encouraged to read the detailed evidence the reports provide for a complete understanding of how the materials are aligned to the standards and meet local priorities.
