

Name: Lieutenant Stephanie Rhees

Age: 17

Personality: Rhees keeps a positive attitude, but is very reserved and matter-of-fact, maintaining a strictly professional relationship with other crew members, even her own brother. She tends to keep her emotions to herself, and even her largest slips are quickly tied down and her professional manner resumed.

Appearance: Reddish brown skin and narrow emerald eyes. Short, straight, and well-cared for light brown hair with a white streak on the right side near the front. Wears a standard Assembly navy uniform comprised of a dark blue button up jacket with the right flap extending at a slight angle over the left, white dress skirt, and black boots. Though it's not required as part of the uniform, she also wears dark blue socks that reach up to just below her knees and a dark blue flight cap.

Background: A close confidant of the captain and Skylar, Rhees had just been promoted to her first tour aboard a ship when Drasis was attacked. Due to the Captain's trust of her, he assigned her to be in charge of information relay when the officer previously occupying the role didn't join the Eclipse in deserting the Assembly.