

This is a publicly editable document.

Please add your points and share with others who are knowledgeable

Comparative study of political/ governance systems: India vs. some other countries

The question we want to address

Let us define a political or governance system as a combination of legislatures (e.g. national, state, local), bureaucracy, judiciary, and media (electronic, print, social media, word of mouth). Where does India's political or governance system stand in comparison to other countries, given its

a) geographic area and resources

b) demographics / human capital

c) current size of the economy (segmented into agricultural, industrial, services, R&D (R&D is not sometimes considered separately in such breakup, but let's look at it separately, as well))

In looking at comparative data, let's distinguish between publicly available data and the way the system actually functions (e.g. parallel/black economy).

What are your thoughts? Please write them below

Ref: <http://bfn.sabhllokcitcity.com/> (free pdf book with lot of comparative info)