

The Time for Inclusion is Now: Conversations and Activities for Students

Overview

Students will explore their vision of an inclusive community using reflection questions and activities to strengthen and deepen their perspective. Educators should adapt based on students' age and needs.

Think and Discuss

To reflect on their own vision of an inclusive community, students share their reflections using a community padlet

Choose an Activity

As a school/ class you can choose to do one or all of these suggested activities:

- Think Like a Teacher
- Relationship Building
- Let's Get Political

For each of these activities you will find:

- Activity Descriptions
- Material Templates
- Implementation Ideas and Recommendations

Links

- This information can be found in a PowerPoint, which was delivered at the Inclusive Education Student Summit in 2020.
- Students can take the conversation about inclusion online with other schools by recording a video on our FlipGrid page or sharing on our Padlet.