

NCSSM Staff Senate Employee of the Month May 2024

Cameron Robinson

Note of Recognition

Cameron does her job well and is a great team member in Student Life! She always is willing to go above and beyond to make sure students have memorable experiences at every event she works with from RLA training to Prom. She also is an engaged teacher in residential education where she is always looking to find ways to engage students taking their feedback to make changes to curriculum and finding new ways to connect students to the material in each class. Aside from the amazing things she does in her role, she is always willing to help out a colleague and step in whenever anyone asks or she sees a void that needs to be filled.

Nomination

Robert Allen

Note of Recognition

Robert is a naturally patient person and always gracious with his ever-expanding workload. Where would we be without his support?

Nomination

David Williams

Note of Recognition

David Williams is the backbone of the Facilities Department. He manages his team well and makes sure that the needs of the school are consistently met. He finds way to troubleshoot and solve problems with limited resources. He supports this team in making sure that the facilities department has the tools it needs to be sufficient and effective. He is a true asset to both the Facilities Department and NCSSM.

Nomination

Jennifer Garrison

Note of Recognition

First, because she has the most pleasant personality of anyone I have met. Secondly, Jennifer is a go-getter that believes in assisting and empowering everyone that crosses her path. Although she works in the Office of Admissions, she is constantly recruited to work in other departments including the Chancellor's Office, Dr. O'Connor's Office, Registrar's Office, Mathematics, and CAAS, just to name a few. Additionally, she serves on various interview processes, and works across all campuses to ensure prospective students and parents inquiries are answered in a timely manner. She is courteous, dedicated, welcoming, and easy to work with. Students who serve as Ambassadors and those who participate in the Financial Assistance program enjoy coming in the office to get snacks, catch her up on their day, and most of all just to see her smile and sometimes steal a hug. I think she is a fantastic staff member, gatekeeper, and I am fortunate that she decided to work in the Office of Admissions. I hope you see the light she shines everyday at NCSSM.
