

mcyt weapon au

Techno:

Sword:

So for techno it was about lightness, it's a thin sword made out of diamond with gold designs and a neatly wrapped leather and pearl handle. It's a very long sword that hangs on his waist. He doesn't use it much as a king has other people to do the dirty work for him. But when he does need to use it it's all about swiftness, it has to be light but incredibly sharp to work quick and efficiently. No need to get his hands dirty, he has potatoes to farm.

Trident:

a beautifully used trident, one found by the legendary warrior philza, a saying carved in it for protection a meaningful gold plate placed on it before it was given to techno as a gift of thanks for always protecting those two need it. the red wrapping a gift from tommy. a red piece of cloth from an old jacket to always remember him and the gold chain made by wilbur as a token of kindness.

Axe:

the axe of peace, many that have heard of it think the weapon was forged by the famed awesamdude, they hear of the strong, powerful and sharp weapon that can take down army's and think only a man of his skill could have forged it but in reality it's a broken axe, used, worn made by the pig king himself on an adventure long ago, it is forged badly, pieces taken from different weapons he had found. still strong but not because of the weapon but because of the man that wields it.

Wilbur:

Dagger:

A dagger made from iron with gold lettering a messily wrapped leather handle and a delicate music note hanger. Wilbur isn't one for fighting he's a talker he doesn't need a big sword to intimidate his enemies so it's not used much but it's always by his side. The dagger itself was given to him by techno as a gift when he noticed his friend didn't have anything to defend himself. Wilbur uses it mostly for cutting food or to look at his reflection but he treasures the dagger and uses it when necessary.

Philza:

Sword:

A netherite sword with an obsidian handle and a diamond for detailing which techno gave to him long ago. His sword is incredibly heavy but one of the strongest swords ever made. Not everyone can carry it let alone use it but Phil uses it a lot. it's his main weapon and he carries it on his back. The sword is one of the most admired weapons there is as it was made expertly and given to philza as a gift of thanks, he treasures the sword but knows it was made to be used and does so beautifully

Tubbo:

Dagger:

So tubbo has two small and used netherite daggers, engraved with little bees. He made them with help from philza himself when he was young, they aren't perfect, the handle on the left dagger is a little loose and the leather on the handles themselves are worn out but they are sharp and loved. created with attention and always by tubbos side

Tommy:

Sword:

His sword is a small but strong sword, thin and easy to conceal, the handle wrapped in a piece of Techno's cloak. It isn't used much but it's always carried, not many know of it.

Calvin:

Sword:

a big and incredibly powerful diamond sword with a heavy iron handle and a piece of old leather wrapped around the handle. a sword with many scars and bumps, taped together in places. for a fighter like calvin the sword doesn't matter, as long as it's sharp. it's not like you'll feel that bump on the left side as it punctures your heart.

Tapl:

Sword:

a golden sword, oddly shaped with an unusual wrapping around the handle. most people are to distracted by the sword to watch the man, which might just be the reason the fighter once bought it at a market. he was still young but he seemed to understand why he wanted that sword so specifically, now, so many years later the sword is worn with pride and whenever someone asks it's origins or the reason for the odd shape a different story is told.

xNestorio:

Bow:

an extraordinarily beautiful iron bow with netherite tips for the arrows, not one crack, not one bump all you can see when you inspect the bow is the intricate drawings carved into the iron, nestor will only react with a small smile if you ask what they mean the bow itself is so silent it's almost useless, why would you ever need a bow so silent, he uses it all the time, how is it in such pristine condition, so many questions but the mysterious archer won't answer any of them.

Nihachu:

Sword:

a beautifully crafted diamond sword with a gold handle. the detailing on the sword is matched by no other, the swiftness beautiful. most see a pretty young girl carry a pretty shiny sword and think nothing of her. before they know it the sword is at their neck big and strong and they blurt all their secrets out or they don't even see the sword before they leave the mortal world. no one even dares to say a bad word against her friends in fear of the sword and the woman that wields it

Dagger:

A dagger that matches perfectly with the feared Captain Puffy's weapon, not many understand their relationship, maybe it's a friendship maybe it's more it's unclear but a kind baker and a ruthless pirate is not common. Neither seem to care about the looks, the daggers are not specifically sharp or dangerous, just beautifully crafted, significant to only them.

Eret:

Sword:

a golden sword, light, swift, unused. he is not a man to use brute strength to accomplish his goals but even the sight of the sword fears enough men to stop their insults. the ruby on the hilt was once found by tubbo on one of his adventures, he came back smiling and offered it to eret. not a day later did the ruby adorn the beautiful sword. the ruby is never dirty, the sword might have stains and might break but the ruby itself will never show age.

Fundy:

Axe:

a basic iron axe in almost every way, not specifically sharp, a little too heavy for the young fox and maybe a bit too blunt but this axe doesn't need to be sharp to hurt. touch it even slightly by any part but the rubber handle and a surge of electricity will end any hopes of a long life. fundy doesn't always carry it, why should he but when it's needed it's carried on his back, proud and strong

Skeppy:

Sword:

a smaller diamond sword, one shinier than maybe needed. a sword with a history, given to skeppy when he was young by his kind father, one with a family history longer than most countries. during all those years only two things have changed. the leather wrap around the handle and the netherite scrap the wrap a piece of the badboyhalo's famous cloak given to skeppy when they first met and the scrap given by technoblade as thanks. the sword is loved and always by skeppy's side, both the additions loved by the fighter.

Badboyhalo:

Sword:

a delicate netherite sword made for the fighter by a legendary sword smith, when it was made for bad he insisted on the diamond in the handle, a diamond given by skeppy and the muffin at the base of the sword. when the sword was given to the fighter something happened that has never been seen before or after, a dark mist appeared when it was touched, it took over the sword like a cloak. when bad leaves it its normal, when he takes it the mist takes over. it seems to have a strange power that has never been explained, when an enemy gets touched by the mist their skin burns like a coal touched it. bad doesn't use the sword much but it's always polished and sharp ready when needed.

Sapnap:

Sword:

a basic iron sword, not one that is very special when sapnap first bought it. no one knows what exactly he did with the sword that day but when the people saw the sword again it had a permanent smokey stain on it as if it's constantly burning from the inside.

Dream:

Axe:

a heavy and incredibly powerful netherite axe, in itself so powerful it couldn't be used by any man, the power needed just to hold it enough to scare any man but the eye on the top of the axe is what makes most run away at the sight the eye held at the top by a gold handle. the eye taken from a legendary ender man. not many have seen one let alone slain it and taken its eye not for the potions but just for decoration, just to show off you can.

Dagger:

It is not as if the warrior needs the dagger, he doesn't need a weapon to handle his business even the ace feels more like intimidation then an actual weapon so why have a small dagger with you at all times? Maybe it's for close combat, maybe it's for skinning deers or maybe, maybe it's just for slicing his apple in half as he watches the bloodshed happen from a distance.

George:

Sword:

A delicate diamond sword with gold and silver handle. the sword known to be from a historic house, a sword that every one of that family has with them at all time, only small details able to keep them apart. the power of just holding the sword is enough to frighten most.

Fruitberries:

Sword:

a beautiful sword, one of the most elegant and smoothest swords in the land, light like a feather, made out of pure emeralds so sharp you could cut yourself by just looking at it. It's always in pristine condition worn at fruit's side with pride but don't underestimate it's beauty, don't get distracted by the way the sun reflects onto it as it swings your way

Bow and arrow:

A wooden weapon with strong enchantments and an unbreakable string to pull back it's unbreakable and swift arrows, it seems like nothing much when the graceful warrior wears it, especially when it's compared to the emerald sword that seems to glitter even at night but the warrior is able to draw the bow so fast, so graceful you won't even be able to think about it as it pierces that exact spot that hurts so much

Quig:

Axe:

a long axe, smooth and weightless, beaten and used, over time engraved with the gold he was given for his jobs. a purple stained piece of cloth wrapped for a handle. the axe recognized by all, worn at the fighters back, always in reach.

Illumina:

Daggers:

two netherite daggers, simple at first sight but when you look closer enchanted but...not intentional, it has some glow, like it ate the magic. was it because of all the dragons he had slaughtered, had the magic been sucked up or maybe it was just a trick of the light...

Axe:

a light weight netherite axe, in itself not to special, most people would understand why the assassin has it but the eye that was built in creates questions and fascinated looks and some myths say that he just had to move the ace to disappear into thin air, only leaving faint and unrecognizable purple particles but that's just a myth...right

Captain Sparklez:

Dagger:

a basic iron dagger, old used prepared to many times to count. a red wrap around the handle and part of the blade. on a part of the wrap a white checkers design was painted most think the design strangely resembles the cloak an old king from a time long past wore

DanTDM:

Sword:

a beautifully intricate diamond sword, every once in a while it changed, little changes, big changes, doesn't matter it's always changing, evolving no one really knows how he does it but it doesn't matter, the kids on the square always get exited when the travelling scientist from far off lands wanders into town again, they want to see what he did to the sword this time!

AntVenom:

Sword:

a solid golden sword, heavy, shiny, beautiful. adorned with the recognizable purple stone in the knife itself. the sword itself isn't to interesting, not to beautiful, not to strong, not to sharp, not to broken but when the man wears it it becomes beautiful, strong, powerful, next to the black jacket the adventurer always wears it shines, no one knows how that exactly works maybe it's just a trick of the light.

Schlatt:

Sword:

a sword stone longer then anyone would need, thicker then is usefull and blunter than your butter knife. every enchantment has been trown on it, it is never used, it just hangs above schlatt's desk in his office, never taken care of, dusty and broken. it hangs there as intimidation, no one who has seen it has been intimidated by it's presence.

Punz:

Dagger:

a delicately beautiful gold and iron dagger, bigger then most, maybe a bit weird to have that size of a sword with you but punz is not one to fight all the time, he does not care for your boring squabbling he does what he wants and if he needs to use violence sure...he will and he will be proficient in it too.

Seapeekay:

Gun:

a....what do they call it again? a strong weapon, something most don't recognize, brought from far away lands, not many have seen how it works but it hangs on cpk's side at all times, cleaning in the sunlight either because if the golden engraved barrel or the golden chain that adores it at all times.

Dagger:

This seems more recognizable, something the locals can understand, not beautiful not glittering, not graceful, nothing seemingly special, just a dagger. that's all it can be...the times the held it and disappeared mean nothing, it's just a normal dagger, nothing special nothing magical and the fox that is somehow in it's place when the traveler disappears is just a coincidence.

HBomb:

Handaxes

two small netherite daggers, can be worn on his back, can be worn on a belt. easy to handle, incredibly strong and useful which is something a man like hbomb finds most important. three gold coins that were won during the most prestigious tournament in the land are pressed into the iron axe handle that holds the netherite blades and wood holds that, that way it can always be exchanged for either a stronger handle or possibly another coin

Sword:

the teacher with much experience behind him has no need for weapons unless he trains the young so this strong iron weapon does well for him, not too impressive, not too magical, just a sword made for a simple man with extraordinary kindness and knowledge

Quackity:

Handaxes:

handmade handaxes, small usefull but not too well made but that doesn't matter to quackity they work, he can throw them, he can slice them and most importantly they aren't annoying to carry, small golden Q's adorn the blades themselves and pieces of cloth are wrapped around the handles both pieces of cloth he has had forever

Captain Puffy:

Sword:

a beautifully taken care of cutlass made out of diamond and gold with wool wrapped around the handle. proudly worn around her side, the cutlass itself found in a big buried treasure she found years ago, over the years the wool was added and the small cp engraved

Dagger:

A dagger that matches perfectly with the kind baker's Nihachu's weapon, not many understand their relationship, maybe it's a friendship maybe it's more it's unclear but a kind baker and a ruthless pirate is not common. Neither seem to care about the looks, the daggers are not specifically sharp or dangerous, just beautifully crafted, significant to only them. (the same as niki's)

Antfrost:

Dagger:

a rare knife, when seen in gold like this one it has historically only been used as a ceremonial dagger given to kings out of respect. this one was given to ant by dream engraved with a small paw and an A to represent the loyal warrior. the knife is only useful in close combat and is used like an extension of an arm, the way of this knife is not taken up easily and ant is one of the few to truly understand it's usefulness.

Awesamdude

Dagger:

half a wrench and half a dagger, used for simplicity's sake, strong, usefull, always by sam's side, you never know when either side is needed

Hammer:

one of the strongest and biggest weapons in the realm, ofcourse the blacksmith would put so much craftsmanship into his own weapon, a beauty with gold and enchantment engravings, heavy, so heavy not many can carry it but awesamdude always has it with him, carries it as if it weighs nothing

Krinios

Axe:

a broken decorated axe that the cyclops found many years ago, it's not clear if the axe was broken when it was found and he has never been clear about the origins of the many to fitting decorations, most think it was given to him decorated and whole but it somehow broke in the cyclop's posession many many years ago

ScottSmajor

Dagger:

a beautifully decorated dagger with a flamingo head. the man never uses it, it's with him as a decoration, used for ceremonies and maybe to cut off a loose thread or two as scott is not known for his violence but his advisory role at the court and so, does not need violence to achieve his goals

Shubble:

Dagger:

a netherite and iron dagger, strong, decorative, beautiful, delectate and powerful just like the woman that wields it, she is not one to use it often, she has other ways to get what she wants

Karl Jacobs

Staff:

no one knows where this came from, no one has seen anything like it before, they recognize the sharpened emerald, the recognize the wood, the gold, it's all....normal but the energy the staff seems to give off and all of it together, what is that feeling, where is it from....from what time, what reality. no one knows but no one dares to ask because they've seen the harm that emerald on it's own can do when it's used as a weapon so the people just stay quiet as the stranger pops back into town every once in a while

SkyDoesMinecraft

sword:

a beautiful golden sword, adorned with more gold then many have seen in their lifetime and a diamond that glitters whenever you lay your eyes on it, it would be a perfect weapon if it wasn't for those weird permanent blue stains on it, no one can place what they are but the fisherman are confused by the lack of squids in the rover lately but those can't be related right

Deadlox

sword:

An enchanted iron sword, long, proud, strong, old but still seemingly new to the unknowing, a weapon that commands respect. The man that wields it one of the oldest and most respected warriors in the land, the sight of the man and it's weapon makes men kniel.

HuskyMudkipz

Sword:

a long and heavy weapon made out of diamond, lightweight, easy to handle and especially by the kind warrior, when he uses it it's like a extension of his arm, not one to use it often, he'd rather use his words and help others but hen it's needed he'll take his sword and destroy anyone that threatens his family, friends and those he cares about most.

ConnerEatsPants

Shuriken:

the kind man that lives in the heart of the city never wanted a sword, he wasn't one for violence but that one time when he saw a foreigner who was able to hit a card out of an apple from 20 feet away he knew that he needed to learn how to do that, he invested and got awesamdude to make him solid diamond shurikens in the shape of pants. that was four years ago, he still doesn't really know how to use them but they look cool on his belt either way.

BajanCanadian and JeromeASF

Axes:

two matching axes, small changes made over time, legendary weapons known by all as the local fighters talked about them to everyone, known as 'bettie" no one really gets their love for the axes, they seem...normal, average but the men don't care the axes could be made out of wood and they would still be the most important thing they own. the weapons do their job, they dont need more then that, magic is useless to them.

PeteZaHutt

Sword:

Kara Corvus

Dagger:

SlimeCicle

Flail:

Ranboo:

Double Sword:

two beautifully crafted swords, one nethte, one iron to match the look of the man that wields them. Ranboo always double wields them as it seems to give him more power then one could ever do. the weapons are always worn on the back of the rouge, a kind man who is more of a storyteller then a fighter but the last man that underestimated him didn't come out of the fight with both his eyes or legs

Questions: