

The Lovely Story of Sheerlop Bingleton

“. . .Your lips must touch the toe.” – Patrons at the Sourdough Saloon

Infamous ex-janitor Sheerlop Bingleton has not been working at the Tringle Education Asylum since she was dishonorably discharged from her positions as “Master of the Suspicious Puddles” and “Professional Candy Crusher”, and approximately ~~none~~ all of the students were interested in knowing about her whereabouts. As it turns out, “she couldn't handle [cleaning] zero [puddles] and had to drink herself to death,” one interviewee said as they told us about how, after being fired for prioritizing Cobra Kai over her school’s cleanliness, her life took a very drastic turn. According to our mystery informer, since Sheerlop now had no income, she was forced to start illegally smuggling sourtoe cocktails into the United States so she could fund her multiple “very responsible” thousand-dollar purchases of Candy Crush merch, as well as treatment for her pneumonoultramicroscopicsilicovolcanoconiosis daughter. To avoid police identification, Sheerlop had taken to using the name of her estranged uncle (who, strangely, hasn’t noticed) for her own safety.

Sheerlop’s sourtoe business, surprisingly, did not generate that much revenue, so our “favorite” ex-janitor sent her eldest daughter down into the coal mines for extra cheddar while the younger of the two begged for money on the streets, using her pneumonoultramicroscopicsilicovolcanoconiosis for sympathy. Fortunately for her, due to her obvious disease, she was mistakenly identified as Cat Elizabeth and received more money than anyone was willing to give to her while taking on her true identity: the daughter of She-who-must-not-be-named. While panhandling, the pneumonoultramicroscopicsilicovolcanoconiosis daughter was “accidentally” dropped in the return bin of the local galoshes factory by a random pedestrian who mistook her as being a sample of the latest boot trend, and from there she was given to a librarian who was described as being a “galoshes connoisseur”, quote herself. This woman was revealed to be esteemed master librarian and wearer of many scarves: Cheryl Reddick. As many of you likely know, this woman is actually Sheerlop’s estranged relative, and the two are siblings/ex-uncle-in-laws to each other. Beyond that point, the location of the pneumonoultramicroscopicsilicovolcanoconiosis daughter has remained unknown.

As for Sheerlop’s older daughter, also known as “not the pneumonoultramicroscopicsilicovolcanoconiosis one”, “the other one”, and “oh yeah, that kid”, we have less information. All that we know is that she was involved in a mining ~~disaster~~ mishap that we believe was caused by her. During the event, the “other daughter” took inspiration from the two Danimal Incidents that occurred with the main Tringle Gazelle staff (true story), and began yelling aggressively in Spanish. However, the daughter of Sheerlop overlooked the fact that she didn’t speak Spanish, and so her failure-y attempts caused nothing but the laughter of her fellow miners. This laughter caused the mine to cave in, leaving all of the participants trapped inside. To this day, the daughter is still clawing her way out. 🙄.

While all of this was happening to her children, Sheerlop was busy clocking in for her first day as a janitor's aide at Pigbunions, Hogwarts's lesser-known counterpart, none the wiser to what was happening to her daughters. Sometime during her lunch break, she was informed that her eldest daughter had been buried, and while coworkers did not report seeing a noticeable change in mood, she did claim to be mildly "upset" at that news, but once she learned about her pneumonoultramicroscopicsilicovolcanoconiosis daughter's disappearance, eyewitnesses report her going into a mad frenzy. Deeply saddened by the loss of one of her daughters, she requested to go home early, a request which was fervently denied by Rumblebore (Dumbledore's creepy uncle). Burdened by the weight of the nonexistent puddles she had to clean and the loss of her pneumonoultramicroscopicsilicovolcanoconiosis daughter, Sheerlop turned to Elmer's to relieve her suffering. However, according to the sturgeon general, ingesting over 7,000,000,000.2 bottles of Elmer's 3glitter glue is more than enough to kill the average blue whale, so poor, poor, sad, dead Sheerlop stood no chance. Her funeral will be held at the local Denny's at roughly 127:00 o'clock.

Image removed for legality.

We will replace as many images
as we can in the future.

Only Murders in the Building Approved for Third Season

Image removed for legality.

We will replace as many images
as we can in the future.

As all of you absolutely must already know, Only Murders in the Building is the best television program that has ever graced the Earth with its presence. Due to this fact, we have decided to inform you that OMeeB (Only Murders en el Building) season three has officially been approved. Even though season two was disappointing compared to season one, we're still overly excited about another few episodes of this glorious form of entertainment. In fact, we at The Tringle Gazelle love the show so much that we requested for Sheerlop Bingleton to watch it. Now, we can only hope that Sheerlop watched it before she overdosed, and know that at least Cheyrl Riddick watches it, even though her favorite character is Face.

NOTE: Most readers of The Tringle Gazelle are not old enough to watch it. It's TV-MA.