

Willem's Election Commissioner Ideas!

So hello guys, fun election right? Well, I do want to continue being the Election Commissioner, because things can only get better right?

Okay, all jokes aside, I do want to continue being in this role because I believe that I can implement the changes that we want to make for this new version of MHoC. This means that we should continue with the personal mods system for creating polling, with the addition of PPM to make a list of personal mods for the players to see and use. The personal mods system is something that I think can be of real value, even though it is a lot to take care of.

I want to continue to give PPM stats to IPOs so that they can be published, with a larger number of people, top 10 ideally and with a full slate at the half-way point in the term. This way everyone can see what the scores of the people are.

The election system was a trial and while it did have some good things in my opinion, we should look at changes to it and a return to a combination of a system that uses FPTP and lists. I do believe that the system that we tried had some advantages for a smaller MHoC, but from what I've read I do think that some people want to return to a FPTP system so I'll be reviewing that and implementing changes that are necessary for that. I do want to take on board the feedback that has been given already in the election mega thread, because I do agree that changes need to be made in this system.

I believe that I can be the right person to do this, even if I've made an error.
