Book Title – Corbel font size 16, bold, justify, sentence case

Author(s) of the book – Corbel font size 14, bold, justify, sentence case

Author's Name, Corbel Font Size 14, Justify Affiliation (Study program, Institution, City, Country), Corbel font size 12, Justify Corresponding Author email, Corbel font size 12, Justify

Book Title
...

Author(s)
...

Publisher
...

Year
...

Page
...

ISBN
...

ARTICLE HISTORY
Received ...
Revised ...
Accepted ...

OVERVIEW

To situate the book within a global context, it is essential to examine how it addresses a specific gap in the field. This involves identifying the book's unique contribution to existing scholarship and explaining its significance in advancing knowledge. Additionally, an introduction to the author is necessary, including their academic background, credentials, and expertise in the subject area. This information provides insight into the author's perspective and the scholarly foundation upon which the book is built. A broad overview of the book's content should also be included, outlining its primary objectives and identifying its target audience, whether they are researchers, educators, students, or practitioners in the field.

SUMMARY

The structure of the book should be analyzed by describing its organization, such as the number of chapters and thematic divisions. Key topics, theories, or arguments explored by the author must be outlined, emphasizing the book's central themes. Additionally, the most significant concepts and conclusions drawn by the author should be highlighted to illustrate the book's core contributions to the field. Understanding how the content is arranged helps contextualize the book's arguments and enhances the reader's comprehension of its main insights.

COMMENTARY

A critical evaluation of the book should examine both its strengths and weaknesses. Strengths may include originality, clarity, depth of analysis, and relevance to the discipline, while potential limitations could involve gaps in research, biased perspectives, or areas that require further exploration. If relevant, the book may be compared to other works in the field to assess its significance in relation to existing literature. Furthermore, its impact on academic discourse and its practical applications should be discussed, highlighting its contributions to both theoretical and real-world contexts. Finally, recommendations regarding the book's suitability for different types of readers, such as scholars, educators, or students, should be provided to help potential readers determine its value for their needs.

REFERENCES

Cranch, B. E., Aroud, B. P., & Falkone, R. (1999). Technology in modern life (7th ed.). Pearson.

Cranch, B. R., & Falkone, A. C. (2011). Science and education. In P. Z. Albert, R. Brings & J. H. Cramm (Eds.), Research papers evaluation (pp. 123-256). Simon & Schuster.

Holliday, A. (2005). The struggle to teach English as an international language. Oxford University Press.

Syairofi, A., Mujahid, Z., Mustofa, M., Ubaidillah, M. F., & Namaziandost, E. (2023). Emancipating SLA findings to inform EFL textbooks: A look at Indonesian school English textbooks. The Asia-Pacific Education Researcher, 32, 177-188. doi.org/10.1007/s40299-022-00642-9

Syairofi, A., Suherdi, D., & Purnawarman, P. (2023). Using WhatsApp to support English language learning: A systematic review. Computer Assisted Language Learning Electronic Journal (CALL-EJ), 24(1), 305-337.