

A photo of the historic Plaza Mayor (Plaza de Armas) in Lima, Peru, taken at sunset. At the center of the image is a large, ornate bronze fountain topped with a statue of a trumpet-blowing angel. Water flows from several tiers and streams outward from lion-shaped spouts around the base. The surrounding colonial-style buildings are painted a deep yellow with white balconies and black trim. Palm trees are scattered around the square, and people stroll and gather throughout the plaza. The sky is painted with soft pink and blue hues as the daylight fades.