Appearance

Suvi is a tall, well-endowed young woman with short black hair, though she'll sometimes let her hair grow out. Her fair skin can sometimes be tan in the summer time due to the amount of time she tends to spend outside. Her muscular build is currently average. Her typical attire consists of a black tank-top or a plain t-shirt in a variety of colors, denim short shorts, white knee-high socks and dark-blue tennis shoes. In cooler weather, she wears a black leather jacket and black khakis in place of shorts. When riding her motorcycle, Suvi wears a black and white racing suit with black boots and gloves, and a matte black helmet with blue visor. When acting as a vigilante, she usually wears a black hockey mask, but she's sometimes forced into action too quickly to have time to put it on.

Personality

Suvi is a very out-going and positive-thinking girl that can be described as tomboyish. She enjoys doing things outdoors including hunting, fishing, swimming, camping and hiking. She shows an interest and understanding in mechanical things like cars, motorcycles, airplanes and firearms. She's known to be quite accident-prone, but she maintains a good sense of humor about it. Suvi has always had a strong moral compass and desire to protect those who can't defend themselves; friend or stranger. She was usually the one to break up fights in school, or at least, put a swift end to them. This strong desire to protect others has only been heightened as she discovered her unique ability, which has also made her rather fearless.

Special ability

Suvi possesses a unique ability to not only survive intense trauma, but heal much faster than most humans. Bruises and minor cuts usually heal completely in 24 hours. Fractured bones heal within a couple days and broken or even shattered bones heal in a week. All of her organs including her heart and brain are capable of fully regenerating themselves within a week depending on the damage.

Her heart can still stop and her brain can still shut down if the trauma is severe enough, meaning she can technically die, but despite this, her cells are still capable of regenerating and she'll "come back to life." However, brain injuries can result in memory loss and potentially permanent and/or complete loss of her memories as well as affect her behavior to certain extents.

Limbs can be severed, but do grow back in about a week, however the speed of this recovery can be greatly increased if the limb is reattached. Separation at the torso takes far longer if the rest of her body isn't reattached, taking over a month to regenerate the rest of her body. However, decapitation absolutely requires reattachment to the torso as long as it still contains at least one cell from the heart, otherwise, Suvi will remain "dead."

Diseases can still affect Suvi, but she can recover from all of them given some time. Her immune system is strong, and even usually permanent diseases can be eradicated from her body.

Unknown to Suvi at the moment, her body will not age any further. Through childhood into adulthood, her body developed normally, but now her body's ability to regenerate cells will prevent any signs of aging.

Aside from the high-speed regeneration of her cells, Suvi is completely normal in every other aspect. She still feels pain and can be incapacitated by pain alone if it is intense enough. Though, she does possess a much higher pain tolerance than most humans. Her hand-to-hand combat skills and reflexes are still average at best.

Backstory

Suvi was born and raised in a rural area near Säkylä, Finland. Despite the fact that the cuts and scrapes she received while playing outside healed rather quickly, she seemed like a normal kid otherwise. Her parents were clued into her special ability on one fateful winter night, however. Suvi was known to wander off into the woods if she wasn't watched closely enough, and she did just that in the dead of winter when she was just 8 years old. Shortly after disappearing into the woods that night, a blizzard dumped a meter of snow overnight and Suvi wasn't found despite the efforts of search parties. It wasn't until the first thaw of snow the following spring that Suvi was discovered. As the snow melted, her head was finally exposed to which her father discovered her... she had been buried in the backyard the entire time. Thinking she had died, her parents carried her into the house and awaited the arrival of an ambulance. Much to their shock, however, as Suvi's body temperature increased inside the house, her parents noticed she had an incredibly slow pulse and she began to breathe again. She was very much alive and was recovering right before their eyes. Obviously, the discovery of a lost child under these circumstances garnered a lot of media attention, but was widely regarded as just a one off miracle of a rather resilient child and nothing more.

Almost 10 years passed before it was made certain that Suvi possessed a great power. One summer night, Suvi was out partying with three of her schoolmates when a tragic accident occurred. Being driven from the party, a drunk Suvi was a passenger along with her drunk friends when the car skidded out of control while going too fast around a corner. The car went off the road and flipped several times in a field before finally coming to a rest. The car was completely crushed and first responders thought for certain nobody had survived. However, after cutting the car open to retrieve the occupants, they were shocked to discover Suvi still breathing and groaning in pain despite being crushed inside the car. After being rushed to the hospital, it was discovered that most of her bones from head to toe were broken. Multiple fractures in her skull, a broken neck and back, broken ribs, arms and legs were just some of the injuries. Doctors were certain that she'd never walk again, but despite this, they soon noticed that she was recovering from these injuries remarkably quickly. Even her neck and back repaired themselves. She walked out of the hospital in a week. Being the only survivor of this accident and recovering so quickly caused Suvi to gain media attention once more, but now journalists from other countries were coming to ask her questions. Between this and the tragic loss of her friends, Suvi chose to flee her home to save her parents from the harassment of the media. She now travels the world, hoping to put her special ability to good use to help others.

Occupation

One could call her a superhero, but Suvi considers herself to be a simple vigilante. She usually fights crime as she happens upon it rather than actively seeking out criminals as she tends to be unfamiliar with how organized crime operates. Most criminals she encounters are petty thieves and bank robbers, but she'll occasionally fight gangs, although to much less success. Though she deals with criminals, she avoids killing, preferring to incapacitate or distract her foes long enough for police to arrive. She normally wears a black hockey mask during her acts of vigilantism to avoid gaining any notoriety from the media. Outside of vigilantism, Suvi will work whatever job she can find to earn money in the meantime. Despite her interest in racing dirt bikes, Suvi chooses to focus on using her special ability for good instead.

Inventory

- 1998 Toyota Corolla Hatchback: A car inherited from Suvi's parents. It is a base model in white with a 1.3L engine and standard 5-speed transmission.

- 2018 Husqvarna 701 Supermoto: Essentially a dirtbike with street tires, this motorcycle is capable of going from 0 to 60 miles per hour in less than 4 seconds with a top speed of 120 miles per hour. Suvi's 701 has a custom livery of the blue cross from the Finnish flag painted on both sides of the bike. An aftermarket exhaust makes the bike louder and bumps power from 74 hp to 77 hp.

- Mosin-Nagant M/39: An old rifle chambered in 7.62x53mmR from World War II that Suvi inherited from her great grandfather. It is the only firearm Suvi has ever used.

Extra notes

- While primarily speaking Finnish, Suvi has learned English during her travels. Though, her English isn't always perfect.

- Suvi is known to be quite the drinker, but alcohol can still get her drunk enough to pass out. However, her ability prevents any amount of alcohol from being fatal. This applies to drugs and other toxins as well.
- A substantial amount of radiation is required before it has any effect on Suvi. Even when heavily irradiated, Suvi's body is still capable of decontaminating itself and repairing itself once she removes herself from the radioactive source.
- Suvi's favorite music is heavy metal, listening to anything from folk metal to death metal.
- Suvi's attempts at vigilantism are often "somewhat" successful at best. Her lack of combat skills and being unarmed usually means she's more of a distraction or human shield than a superhero.
- This bio is a work-in-progress. I'll add/edit things as they come to mind.
