

Sarah-Elizabeth Langford is the Executive Director of the Development Authority of Fulton County which has issued more than $25 billion in bonds and helped thousands of businesses and institutions build, renovate, expand or relocate in Fulton County, Georgia.

She previously worked for an affordable housing developer for approximately ten years. She is a former member of the University System of Georgia Board of Regents (appointed by Governor Nathan Deal) and currently a member of the board of directors of the Georgia Department of Economic Development (appointed by Governor Brian Kemp). She graduated from the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor, MI with a degree in French Language and Literature and then received a JD from Howard University School of Law.

She is the former First Lady of the City of Atlanta and a graduate of Leadership Georgia. She serves on boards such as the Children's Museum of Atlanta, Georgia Early Education Alliance for Ready Students (GEEARS), First United Church of Christ Development Board, BIH and the University System of Georgia Foundation. Sarah-Elizabeth has one child at AIS.