They drink every day. Their country is not developed, however, they compensate for it with their military power. They are arrogant and they think that Europe should be grateful to them for their sacrifice they made in WWII.	They are arrogant and look down on us. They want to dominate Europe. They are very efficient, punctual and have no sense of humour. They wear leather shorts and drink beer.	They hate both the Russians and Germans. They are extremely religious and hate sexual minorities. They make furniture, eat sausages and drink vodka and beer with syrup. They can't drive.
They are mountaineers who keep sheep, drink spirits and eat cheese. They are our younger, less developed brothers. Their women are more beautiful than ours and their language sounds soft and cute.	They are arrogant and have no idea of geography outside their country. They are fat because they only eat fast food. They are religious and patriotic fanatics who want to dominate the world, so they export democracy everywhere.	They eat kebab and pray to god in mosques. Their country is a nice place for a holiday, but they aren't very well organised and nothing works properly in their country.
They love fashion, wine and good food. They wear berets and stripy T-shirts. They pretend they don't understand English because they think everybody should speak their language when visiting their country.	The old way is always the best way. They are conservative and posh. They keep things private and they are as cold as stone. Their cuisine is terrible.	They have weird interests and fetishes. They watch anime, work extremely hard and are very polite. Their tourists travel all around the world and take photos of everything.
