Statements from the victims:

ive known sin since i was around 9 and during when i was around 11 they asked me out and dated me when they were 17 and sent me nudes and deleted them afterwards. they tried doing a erp with me but it was quickly stopped because i didnt take it seriously, they had alot of underage girlfriends during that time they were dating me. i dont have screenshots of this because i deleted my account so take this as you will sin was also a former facist but claimed to 'not know the history behind it and only liked the aesthetic' and only stopped because vin said it was fucking weird sin is also literally not native american as ive known them for years and only started saying that just as an excuse to say the n word she literally looked up a wikipedia article on native american slurs and used thatt as an excuse beause one of the slurs contained the n word alr i have a few screenshots of me talking about sin at the time sin was named ziro for a bit from her old roblox usernames ill grab in a second

(WARNING FOR NSFW, SLURS, OFFENSIVE SHIT IN THESE NEXT ONES, THESE WERE SAID TO 13 AND 14 YEAR OLDS -ELLIOT)

-Deimos/Meatz, former cov hr

Worst experience in Cov was the entire fucking thing. Entire fucking shitshow I was there. Being groomed by two fucking councillors and one showing pornography to a minor as well as multiple incidents of racism, death threats, verbal and emotional abuse I faced during my time as a patient and staff. Many staff members are also infamously known being disrespectful and jumping a god damn minor over a fucking joke then later to create the infamous google document around 2021. All of this went unnoticed because they were such high ranks. Jordy in particular was a council member along with Hydra/Zyhne who were favored by others as well as Sin herself. Their actions went unnoticed and both were able to get away with various actions of fucking people over as well as myself and friends I hold dear. Other members held in high position also fueled the fire with shit talking statements and leaks of confined information. This was all left unnoticed by Sin and higher ranks themselves due to positions of power that are looked up to and are often brushed under the rug due to their popularity, allowing others to be hurt by their actions with little to no consequence. It took me about a year and a half to get Hydra banned for pornography being sent to a minor due to the fear I sustained and having been silenced for almost 2 years. Cult Of Vin is truly a hellhole with widespread problems swept under the rug, allowing myself and many others to suffer abuse through closed doors due to favoritism and apathy from the creator themselves to confront these situations in their own community.

-Aerius, former cov hr

my name is marie. as of writing this, I'm 17 years old, and I'll be turning eighteen on december 8th, 2022.

I was possibly groomed by Sin. This is my story.

sin and I had been friends since around 2017--the exact time escapes me--and we grew close. we would play games together a lot, talk a lot, share secrets and trauma.

at one point, around 2018-2019, they confessed to me. that they liked me. I have no logs of this, as it was on Roblox and Roblox doesnt save logs of chat history in games.

I thought nothing of it and politely declined, as I was already in a relationship with my current girlfriend. we never spoke of it again.

I would send Sin selfies rather frequently, and they would compliment me. they often called me things like precious, cute, adorable, things like that. compliments. they made me happy, I thought nothing of them once more and brushed it aside.

i found a pic of me

they would often talk to me about sexual topics regarding their current (and previous) partners. those previous partners, i learned, were a lie. they told me of a deceased girlfriend, Ballora, and another (balloras said to be sister) sending photos of both and saying sexual things about her (describing fetishes that Ballora had, and sexual encounters). it turns out Ballora and Alexandria were a lie, they never existed Sin had used photos from a very alive, very active cosplayer and passed the photos off as Ballora.

i feel as if sin could have had inappropriate sexual thoughts for me. i fear they may have used selfies i had sent them as masturbation material. i have no proof of this, it's paranoia and nothing else, but it's a fear i have nonetheless rather unrelated, but i've seen screenshots of sin using the n-word that they vehemently denied. i have evidence of them saying this in dms with me and me calling them out on it. it was one time, but one time too many.

my twitter is @marie_eria. please dm me there if you want to ask me anything, i will answer as many questions as i can.

Before i was legally an adult Sin was already over the age of 18. I have known him since 2019. I had been banned from COV in 2021 because Vin had thought that i was “faking schizophrenia and rape.” I had added sin to appeal. We soon bonded, and that in a friendly way, and in a few months in time They had started asking for “selfies” Like they had done to basically everyone else. It got weirder and weirder, Sin had been asking for me to “moan the name mistress” on VC while i was a minor. I had always said “what about your wife?” or “is this wrong?” to which sin had always told me it’s normal and alright. A year passed and Sin starts blackmailing me for nudes, etc... At one point, i had gotten a partner and Sin had tried to ask them for sexual favors. I have been in the server since it was created on my banned acc. Sin has traumatized me and many other members. Sin would always ask if i could “ride bacterial things” around the house and “send the videos” and whenever i had said no, Sin would either stop talking for weeks or sometimes months, or blackmail me. I don’t have screenshots of much, but these are the screenshots i have on instagram. In the photos sin was an adult and i was still a minor. Sin had also done things that had involved messing with my mental illness. I have severe schizophrenia, insomnia & autism. Sin would always make fun of the autism and insomnia. Nonstop. I thought because they were a Schizophrenic aswell. Or so they had told me. When it was late at night Sin would tell me things like “they’re in your walls” “they can see you” and mess with me.

joining and dickriding

I joined cov a lot later than most of the people i know. I didn't think much when i first joined, it was just another server. I posted my art there for the first time and all hell broke loose. immediately i had a couple of staff befriend me, along with patients. i enjoyed the attention of course, and was really willing to do anything to have a few friends as i had just went through a traumatic experience. i was taken advantage of by these people for art. i was manipulated into drawing for them, designing for them, even buying them things because they would constantly tell me how envious they were of my art and how they couldnt afford commissions.i wanted to help in any way i could. they offered me co-ownership of voidkin in return. after that was no longer allowed, they took everything and left.

after i purchased a voidkin design, i noticed a lot of people could not afford it; i wanted to help these people. i was manipulated several times into spending 100s of dollars for several people. they just kept asking for more and more and i felt awful saying no. it wasnt polite. i would offer to buy them an eyeling; suddenly, i was purchasing that along with 5 different accessories along with other things i really did not want to spend my money on. but i couldnt say no as i'd already agreed to the initial purchase. this happened over and over again. i watched them move on from me when i began ignoring their dms and they eventually found someone else to pester. as much as i wanted to say something i felt as though it was my fault for indulging in the first place.

at some point, i was in a voice call and a counsiller had joined. im not super into the whole idolizing staff thing and had never really interacted with them. they had immediately insulted my appearance, and praised me when i didnt take it kindly. we then began to private message. this would begin an awful time for me. we got super close very quick, we talked about everything and i had told them things that i felt i couldnt open up about. they told me they loved me and that they had never felt so close to someone before, praising me for seeing them as someone other than "counsiller jordy." i felt wanted and i felt loved. if i talked to others they got upset. of course it was sort of an inside joke, id be playfully jealous too, but it got to the point where they were asking me not to speak to people because theyd rather i only spoke with them. they would share nsfw with me and would tell me about the things his staff character and my persona would do together. he bought me things, he gave me money, i drew him things, i drew us together. we matched, we spoke, we bonded. he made me turn against people i had never even spoken to. at some point he convinced me to leave cov altogether, after being banned. i was told he was demoted for mental health. he told me it was due to mental health. it was not. i was isolated and my only friend was jordy. i only spoke to jordy. of course there were others around me, but they werent jordy. then he left.

after returning to cov, i was greeted warmly. of course, i knew of the issues there. racist hrs, racist past, and the countless times drama had taken over the server. but at the time the server seemed tame. i joined a voice call, and mentioned my jewish ancestry; i was immediately told how i look it, how i seem like i work at a bank, i looked like a goblin, and was edited into a crued antisemetic image. i reported it. they said theyd keep an eye out. it is a joke to them now. about two weeks after, i opened chat and saw someone claiming to be anti-semetic. i reported it, they were bot warned. i felt embarassed, i felt ugly, i felt like shit. then i found out one of the hrs, someone who was praised in the community was also widely known to be affiliated with nazi propaganda. i have never felt more uncomfortable around a group of people.

of course these things have been addressed, theyve been dealt with; but it doesnt change how it affected me and others . i was groomed, ridiculed, robbed, and all i got was this fucking shirt.

-Anonymous

My entire experience in COV has been filled with constant racism and microaggressions. I've been warned for things that another nb person would do, sometimes in the same conversation. I've been bashed for simply the colour of my skin, an unchangeable aspect of my identity. I've never experienced as much racism as I have in the one and a half years I've been in cov. I've been called degrading and racist names in game while staff members were present, simply for expressing my race. I've been called a beaner and wall hopper ingame simply for wearing an item of mexican culture. I've been called a monkey, melon eater and chicken eater in both vc and in-game.

So many other members including myself have been victim of ex council member Jordy, which could have been avoided so many times had it not been completely swept under the rug and hidden. For the longest time, I was completely unaware that what had happened to me was even grooming due to my lack of education. I was unaware that what was happening was even WRONG until I was confronted with the stories of others, almost identical to mine. Even as a 17 year old at the time, I was still a minor. Jordy had confronted me with his irl sex life and personal business, constantly talking about him and his boyfriend's actions. Even after jordy had been banned from cov, he was still active in a personal server that I was in. He had manipulated everyone onto his side including me, and I admired him for how strong he was even after being banned for his 'mental health.' Not short after, we had a personal fallout which resulted in the splitting of our group, and separated jordy from me. he made as much effort as possible to stay as close to me as he could, convincing me he was on my side and that he loved me. He had told me he was more afraid of losing me than anyone else, and that that fear had made him break down multiple times and I completely believed it. if cov hadn't had hidden such crucial information for a person then this would have never taken place.

-Vicente

So, I was friends with Dante. Jordy took notice of us in the Jungle Gym. I thought we were lucky, I thought we were the shit. He would tell me all the time that he loved me, that I was the first person to see him as "more than jordy from cov." Well, then Dante got on staff. They wanted their characters to be together, and I had joked about writing a smut fic about it. Jordy told me I should. I asked him if that's was allowed and he told me the stories of how he rp'd smut with Neb. "Everyone does it, it won't get out." Once it was done, he wouldn't comment on it. He only gave love in little love bombs. He would rave about how all the staff were evil racists. How everyone was going to get us like monsters in the night. He turned all of us against CoV. He encouraged everyone to go to the server, harass the staff, cause chaos in game. At first, I minded my business. But when I spoke about applying for staff, since we had friends on staff, he turned on me. Saying he had "PTSD from CoV" and that I was "Invalidating his trauma." I did terrible things to an ex friend just to get Jordy close. He told us Jordy was dangerous and we didn't believe him. It would have been fine, but Jordy refused to wait a day, he wanted to be in our group immediately.

VK wise, I was the harassment victim in the Chime and Cree case. They drew my VK Patient, whom is also one of my alters, a trauma holder for my sexual trauma, fucking herself. Without my consent. Eli/Cree knew what she represented. He knew she was a "vent character." I was almost raped twice, and he drew her fucking herself. Right next to a sketch of HK Derrin and Eli Laurent pegging each other. He also drew Eli Laurent with a tentacle penis, but that's none of my business.

I was repeatedly gaslit about whatever was convenient. I watched Dante become a monster. Hydra came in once she found out the server was full of minors, but didn't get the chance to do much. I wish I could have known what they all truly were.

Once I caught on, Jordy framed me as a monster. All over a photo of Cree's foot. Claiming it was a nude photo that I "spread around." They all shit talked me in group chats while Jordy told me I was right and that I needed to keep fighting. He just wanted to set me up.

Eyeris threatened to kill me, one of Jordy's friends falsely accused me of being a pedophile. They body shame me in private servers, make fun of my deceased father, etc. All because Jordy was tired of me.

I was exposed to nsfw material by an adult here. By an ex-monster/void council.

-Anonymous

saying that we're arguing when we're CLEARLY speaking up on important matters and some hr's shutting us down. if youre "uncomfortable" with these kinds of conversation i dont think you can be online or even in this server anymore

-Anonymous

we were literally banned for coming out about being a system lol even though they had multiple other members and staff members who were undiagnosed and we did not have the resources available to get help 😊 we were COUNCIL and we trusted the heads of a mental health oriented group to support us because we were obviously going through a tough fucking time dealing with that oh ye also sin used to ask for pictures of us when we were like 13 idek if it was creepy or not but i certainly remember that!

-Gummy, former cov hr

I don't think my was as serious since I wasn't groomed but I was manipulated. I joined when the whole game and community was being built up. I can't quite remember how old I was but I was very gullible and going through a lot of mental and emotional stuff.

Whenever I would go into game or into the discord they were romanticizing Self harm or suicide, and anytime someone tried to speak up about they were often muted, kicked, or laughed at.

Whenever I vented in the discord with my struggles, I was told that it was okay to self harm as long as I never showed my cuts. (People would send triggering photos of their self harm in the chat and they wouldn't be kicked or anything and people would just say "wow good job" Or say "go deeper".)

I was there when the Orion and Harminess drama went down and honestly? I fell for the Harminess drama, I really did believe for a moment that she passed on and that she was sick just to realize she wasn't. It honestly makes my stomach hurt since I have had cancer in my family that has killed off two of my loved ones.

After I realized Orion was allowed back in and saw what he kept doing I finally left.

I wish I had kept screenshots, but back then I didn't even know if this stuff would ever come up.

-Texas

also a little thing from me elliot the person making the big announcement bc idk where else to put this

I'll start off with saying that as a council member i don't even know what the fuck to do. We are a moderation team and yet we have NO clear guidelines on how to moderate. We change up moderation once every Tuesday for god's sake and can never stick with a single protocol for offenses, ending up in different people getting different punishments for the same offense, which is then deemed as unfair by them and gives us a bad look. And hell, it IS unfair. And then we don't even have set out & clear instructions in the doctrine for anything discord moderation related. I don't get how we can be a staff team specifically for moderating stuff and then not have one of the most vital components for moderation.

I'm going to talk about the lore now because it's the part i'm most passionate about and i've been working more on the wiki than nurse depo because nurse depo is gathering dust because moderation is fucked just like i said above. The lore. Our precious lore, we are a lore group, the entire point of our group is centered around the lore. Which is why i don't understand how it could have just gone up in fucking flames just like the rest of everything in the group has been. When Vin went on break, when Vin deleted the main hall channel with no prior warning and heaps of lore were lost to time back in 2020, we were lost. Stuck. We went just about a whole fucking year without any new actual lore or storyline to contribute. In a LORE GROUP. So many people were stuck in their own little boxes, scared of showing themselves and presenting their creativity to the world. And after an entire fucking year, that finally began to change. People did roleplay interactions with each other in-game, and it became a large center of the team and the reason people became encouraged to put effort into this group again. And then we called for more change, a way for our lore and our ideas to get out there even further, and we were listened to. The main hall channel was brought back. But oh no, it'd be a few months before it was used. And when it was used, it was for the largest sign of change that we had seen in the past 2 years of the group. Kerry's return. Lore spiked up even MORE, people planned events left and right. I'd argue that these were the best few months the group has ever seen. They were the best few months in the group i've ever seen, at least. Communication became less of an issue, people were talking with each other, planning stuff they could do with their characters and grew closer as a team. And then even we had all of that taken away from us, all of that hard work stripped from us in an instant because of a miscommunication between sin and vin. In an INSTANT people were shoved back into their little boxes that had taken them a year to emerge from.
