

Immigration Attorneys and Law Practices

Immigration law is highly complex. Many attorneys specialize in a particular area of immigration law (employment-based, family-based, asylum & humanitarian, criminal defense, etc.) while others have a broad focus. ISSS offers some tips for finding an attorney.

Attorneys on this list are independent professionals, and the inclusion of any attorney or firm does not constitute an endorsement or recommendation by the U of MN. Each attorney's qualifications, experience, and services vary. This list is provided as a service to individuals seeking legal assistance, but we strongly encourage you to conduct your own research before making any decisions. U of MN is not responsible for any actions, advice, or services provided by the attorneys on this list. You are not required to use attorneys from this list, but if U of MN employment sponsorship is involved, OGC must provide approval.

This list is jointly used and managed by ISSS, SLS, and the OGC. Firms/attorneys are listed by area(s) of specialization as described on their website, but some firms/attorneys specialize or offer services in multiple areas. Visit their websites for comprehensive and up-to-date information about services offered.
