

THE GRAND DICTIONARY OF THE LANGUAGE

(And grammar and etc.)

Grammar:

1. Only Definite article (The)
2. “İşimit” and “İşit” (what is)- İşimit is used only in the written language, in titles. In the spoken language “İşimit” is pronounced “işit”. “İşimit” originates from communication with the other Islands in treaties and etc. Written communication (especially of philosophical nature) with the other Islands became so common, that the word “İşimit” from the other Islands’ dialects, started to be used by red islanders in philosophical texts. This eventually was assimilated into the written language, but not into the spoken language. In General in the language titles are written with variants of words.
3. No Present Participles. Say (Mü) =Saying (also Mü)

Subjects (sakia):

Singular

I - Ay

You - Ru

He - De

She - Fe

It (inanimate things, etc.) - Wa

Them (unknown gender, but human) - We

Plural
