

The only one upside down

She is the one who has a knife

He has no control over his life

The girl who is designed for her hand

He doesn't know exactly what to do with her

She was just like a child to her palm

He was going on a journey of long time

She is the best person he knows

He had made an appearance at the moment he stepped

She said that it was her word of honor

But he never thought he'd be there to see

Her name was her first time in the great world past

His voice was not quite real but true

She said it would matter if he tried

But he was still cautious about the fact of that

And she was just saying that it wasn't the end of the story

When he stopped the game with a hand

And both ended up in a kiss